Plans Are Started To Lighten Relief

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Moves to lighten the relief load are under way in many sections of the nation.

They vary in form—putting the able-bodied to work for their share, cracking down on chiselers, or training unskilled men and women so they can help themselves.

Newburgh, N.Y., has brought the subject of public aid to national attention. The city plans to override state objections and put new rules into effect Saturday. The rules would, among other things:

Make the mother of illegitimate children ineligible for further aid if she has any more children out of wedlock.

Limit welfare recipients, except for the aged, blind and disabled, to three months of assistance in any one year.

Newburgh officials estimated about 5 per cent of the city's 31,000 population is on relief. They contended taxpayers no longer can afford the mounting costs.

New Bombings Add to Terror In Tyrol Feud

BOLANO, Italy (AP) — The troubled South Tyrol was shaken again today by terrorist bombings of power plants as Austria and Italy exchanged bitter protest notes in the flareup of the dispute dating back to World War I.

A dozen predawn blasts and cracking gunfire — apparently from army sentries guarding the power plants—echoed in the Alpine resort province where the German-speaking minority is demanding autonomy from Italian domination.

The terrorists directed their latest attacks primarily at power installations and railway lines.

Austria formerly owned the South Tyrol but turned the area over to Italy after World War I. Italy, in a sharp protest note Wednesday called Austria's attention to "its responsibility concerning... the recent terrorist acts in Italy."

Austria in turn complained of Rome's new restrictions on the Italian-Austrian border, where all crossers now must have visas and passports. Previously only identity papers were required.

Italy, angered by the latest flareup in dynamitings, also suspended further diplomatic negotiations with Austria on the dispute.

Ohio Assembly Due To Quit Work Today

Lawmakers Slated To Return July 31 For Final Cleanup

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The deskbound 104th General Assembly goes home today. It has been sitting 28 weeks.

With the exception of presiding Officers, who must come back next Wednesday to sign bills, the lawmakers won't return until July 31.

That end-of-the month session is scheduled for possible action on vetoes by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, plus any other matters that needs cleaning up.

If the Republican majority thinks it can muster the Democratic help it needs to override a veto, an attempt might be made at that time to trample Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's veto of all second-year appropriations for operating the state government.

Indications are the Senate may delay considering the "A & B" — additions and betterments — bill until then. It calls for $54.2 million for state construction projects (including $11 million for a new state office building) and was passed by the House this week.

An omnibus court bill, and possibly a House-approved bill to increase employers' assessments for the state unemployment compensation funds from 2.7 to 4 per cent of payrolls, were among measures though likely to get Senate attention today.

Another god possibility for action in the Senate was the plan to create a district for Ohio's new 24th congressman from Preble, Butler, Warren and Clermont counties.

Widow's Mite Even Helps in Village Drive

BENTON, Ky. (AP) — Hard work and folks like the widow with three children who gave $5 of $6 she carried brought success to Benton's 24-hour fund-raising campaign to reacquire an industry.

The community raised $7,500 to return a subsidiary of the Ashby Metal Co. from St. Louis, where it had moved after closing its plant here 18 months earlier.

Ashby officials asked help in meeting moving expenses and the community had to raise the money by 10 a. m. Wednesday. The drive went over the top at 10:52 a. m.

Earl St. Marie, chairman of the Marshall County Industrial Foundation, said the contributions went from $1 to $500, including the widow's $5. She was a former employee of the lawn furniture plant.

St. Marie said practically all the plant's former employees still living here contributed to the drive.

An average of 300 people in this far western Kentucky town of 3,000 worked at the plant previously. It will reopen about Oct. 1, St. Marie said. Its payroll paid $11,000 weekly into the city's economy in the past.

Columbus Bakery Strike Is Ended

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Bread trucks were rolling again in Columbus today, and dealers' shelves were again stocked with all of the big name breads.

Things got back to normal after a four-day bakery strike was settled late Wednesday. The new two-year contract for members of the American Bakery and Confectionary Workers Union at the four major bakeries calls for a 20-cent wage increase during the period—10 cents each year. Additional fringe benefits were included.

The strike, which began at midnight Saturday, shut down operations in all but the General Bakery.

Kingston Mayor Dies While Townsman Debate His Civic Improvement Program

Kingston Mayor Marshall A. Shepard, 76, died at 1:21 a. m. today in a Chillicothe hospital as residents of the little Ross County village debated a sewage plant improvement proposal which Shepard had long championed.

The first-term town executive was one of the first to propose improvement of the treatment facility. He was the guiding spirit behind recent efforts to obtain public support for a lagoon-type disposal plant recommended by state health authorities.

Mayor Shepard had been shouldering most of the burden of village government in recent months as the sewer controversy boiled to a head.

He became slightly ill Sunday and his condition declined rapidly. Taken to Chillicothe Hospital Tuesday, he had hoped to return to Kingston Wednesday night for a public hearing on the sewer system.

HE DID NOT return, and the discussion was carried on without him. He died shortly after the time the meeting adjourned.

Mr. Shepard, superintendent of Kingston schools for 14 years and Union schools for five, was born Feb. 19, 1885 near Hankins in Wood County. He was the son of William H. and Alice Shepard.

A graduate of Hoskins High School he received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Defiance College in 1913 and an MA degree from Ohio State University in 1938. In all he was a public school official 43 years. He was affiliated with the Department of Public Welfare in Chillicothe for almost 11 years.

Mr. Shepard is survived by his wife Myrtle; two daughters, Mrs. Ruth Jackson, Chillicothe and Mrs. Carolyn King, of Kingston; a son Robert, of Bucyrus; nine grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

A second son, Marshall II, preceded his father in death. Funeral services will be 2 p. m. Sunday in the Hill Funeral Home, Kingston. Rev. Prentiss Spears will officiate. Burial will be in Mt. Pleasant Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home starting 4 p. m. tomorrow.

WHAT effect Marshall's death may have on the Kingston sewage project is not yet certain. He had served as a rallying point against critics of the proposed new system.

At the public hearing last night only "50 or 60 or more than 300 eligible electors" appeared to review the sewage needs, according to village officials.

Miss Gertrude Seness, chairman of the health and sanitation commission, presided in the absence of Mayor Marshall. She stated today she was "rather disappointed" with both the turnout and questions asked.

Miss Seness stressed the proposed lagoon-type installation is "a must" if the village is to retain its sewage disposal permit, while most citizens expressed a desire to repair the existing facilities.

The State Health Department has given Kingston until Jan. 15, 1962, to make required corrections in its method of sewage treatment or face stiff penalties and a loss of the disposal certificate.

Engineering estimates are to be obtained on the proposed system. Several village residents also objected to the increased sewer (Continued on Page 2)

Civil Defense, Liquor Agencies Report Pinch

Package Agencies Hinted in 23 Areas; 12 CD Aides Dismissed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A reduced state budget voted by the Ohio General Assembly already is having an effect on departmental operations.

Five Civil Defense area directors are among 12 persons being cut from the state payroll as the result of budget slashes, according to Adj. Gen. Loren G. Windom.

And 23 of Ohio's smaller counties may see private package agencies replace their familiar state liquor stores.

Richard C. Crouch, director of the Ohio Department of Liquor Control, said that action might be necessary due to the department's reduced budget for the next fiscal year.

Department spokesmen said the reduced budget will make it mandatory that between 80 to 110 employees be cut from the state payroll, and that is about the number of persons needed to man 27 stores which may be replaced by agencies.

The 27 stores being considered for replacement did not meet the $250,000 minimum requirement of business last year.

Package store operators are paid five per cent of gross retail and three per cent of gross wholesale sales.

Those marked for possible closing are stores in Franklin, Georgetown, Marysville, London, Pomeroy, Waverly, Logan, New Lexington, Shelby, Nelsonville, Malta, Malvern, Millersburg, Woodsfield, Newton Falls, Adena, Amherst, Wakonetta, Greenfield, Kenton, Upper Sandusky, Paulding and Delphos.

Windom, Civil Defense director, said the dismissals will involve a savings in yearly salaries totaling $52,874. The cuts were made necessary because the Ohio Legislature reduced the Civil Defense budget to $100,000 a year from the $542,000 amount asked by his office and Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, Windom added.

The five directors dismissed are: Robert C. Siler, Cincinnati, at Blue Ash; Leo F. McCarthy, Youngstown, at Alliance; William Drews, Kenton, at Findlay; Leroy V. John, at Chagrin Falls; and Paul Lindmore, Columbus, at Zanesville. Also dismissed was Rob Roy Beglund, information officer. The six were in the $7,000-a-year bracket.

Also dismissed were six clerks. Windom said all the communication centers in the five Ohio CD areas will be dismantled because there will be no one to communicate with now.

The enforcement of federal surplus property regulations will no longer be under CD control. Existing surplus property will be placed under the charge of local officials in charge of maintenance instead of the state, Windom said.

The rural defense program, which consisted of distribution of pamphlets to rural area residents, promoting fallout proof shelters, also was eliminated from CD jurisdiction as well as the official publication, Ohio Civil Defense News.

"Actually we have been streamlining our department for the past two years, ever since we discovered that we could work as effectively with less people," Windom said.

Jury Selected In Bowling Green

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) — A jury, minus an alternate, has been seated tentatively in the first-degree murder trial her of two Detroit men.

Fifty-four persons were questioned in selecting the 12. However both sides may still disqualify those chosen and an alternate must be seated before testimony begins in the case of Raymond McDonald, 27, and Jerry Taylor, 21.

The pair is charged in the slaying last January of Detroit cab driver Elmer H. Walker, who allegedly was hired to drive the men to Ohio. Walker's body was found near Fostoria Jan. 22.

Rain Halts Wheat Harvest; Quality Outlook Is Good

Showers in this area have halted the wheat harvest which is already comparatively late.

Several farmers in Pickaway County have at least broken their fields and others have combined a good portion of their wheat crop, according to a survey.

Dick Bowers, of the Pickaway Grain Co., said today the elevator received its first load of this year's crop Saturday.

Bowers reported that, as usual, moisture content has varied. He said he has tested some at 12 per cent and their loads as high as 25 per cent.

"TEST weight has been extremely high on wheat that we have received," Bowers related. "An average would probably be about 60 pounds," he noted.

No. 1 wheat is 60 pounds to the bushel, which is used as a standard. Swelled or puffed wheat occupies more space, therefore cutting down on the weight per bushel and lessening the grade.

Bowers also said this year's yield may be about 10 per cent short of last year's. He explained that it would be difficult to make a comparison since the 1960 yield was extremely good.

According to George Hamrick, Pickaway County Extension agent, the county has about 40,000 acres of wheat.

In 1960 the average yield was about 27 bushels per acre, Hamrick said. This makes a total yield of a little more than 1,000,000 bushels, he added.

Hamrick said during the past five years wheat sales by Pickaway County farmers have amounted to $1,500,000. This does not include wheat that is fed to livestock, only that which is sold."

ALTHOUGH Monday and Tuesday of this week did not present ideal weather for combining, many area farmers went into the fields and the results compiled at the Pickaway Grain Co. were quite surprising.

Records at the grain company

show approximately 5,000 bushels of wheat sold Monday and 17,000 Tuesday, with an average test weight of 60 pounds or No. 1 wheat.

Many farmers were also surprised to discover that their wheat tested between 14 and 18 per cent moisture.

Local authorities agree that the crop has not been damaged, although by this time last year combining was nearly completed.

If the weatherman has issued a correct forecast, farmers will not be able to get back into the fields before the weekend at least.

The forecast calls for warm and humid weather with widely scattered showers and thundershowers through Friday.

Preacher Doubts Southerners Are 'Model Americans'

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — An Episcopal minister, just returned Wednesday night from Mississippi where he spent 23 days in jail as a "Freedom Rider," told a reporter, in answer to a question, that he did not consider Southerners "model Americans."

The Rev. Grant Muse, white pastor of the Church of The Good Shepherd in Berkeley, told newsmen he and other Freedom Riders were abused and ridiculed by their Mississippi jailers.

A San Francisco reporter asked: "Do you think Southerners are un-American and un-Christian?"

"No, I don't think they are," the Rev. Muse replied.

Then he was asked: "Do you consider the Southerners model Americans?"

"No," he said.

He said in Parchman penitentiary, where he spent half his time after his arrest in Jackson, jailers used a type of handcuff called a wristbreaker and goaded prisoners with rods charged with electricity.

Muse said he and another prisoner shared a cell, 6 by 9 feet, with a basin, toilet and two cots.

"For the first two days food was adequate. But after that we existed on corn bread, green beans and chunks of pork fat with two- or three-inch bristles on it."

Riders were fed large doses of a mixture called Black Annie, milk of magnesia in blackstrap molasses, Muse said.

He was one of six San Francisco Bay area riders arrested June 20 after they had entered a Negro waiting room in Jackson.

He was sentenced to four months but was released when the Congress of Racial Equality paid his $500 fine.

When they were transferred from Jackson to Parchman prison, he and the others were loaded into trucks like cattle, Muse said.

As they approached small towns, the drivers would turn on sirens and flashing red lights.

"Then they would stop and let the natives look in at us and jeer," he related.

Hollandaise Sauce Reported Dangerous

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration has warned that Hayden's hollandaise sauce could cause food poisoning.

The FDA Wednesday advised consumers to destroy any of the sauce they might have on hand and said dealers should stop selling the product. Shipments are being seized at several points across the country.

New Spies-in-Skies Working Fine

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

America's latest spies-in-the-skies are working fine. One is designed to spot the launching of missiles anywhere on earth while the other is on the lookout for development of violent storms.

A weather disturbance in the Atlantic could provide a quick test for the new camera-carrying Tiro III hurricane-hunter satellite.

The 285-pound satellite rocketed into orbit Wednesday to photograph and perhaps discover the cause of tropical storms. Within hours, the Miami Weather Bureau reported a disturbance southeast of Puerto Rico, 400-600 miles east of the Lesser Antilles. Above-normal shower activity, clouds and moderate winds were reported from the area. Weather officials said over-all conditions were not favorable for hurricane development, but Navy hurricane patrol planes were to make a thorough aerial investigation.

A Tiro project officer said Tiro III probably would pass over the disturbance zone today and there was a possibility its two television cameras would obtain pictures of the potential storm.

A Thor-Delta rocket boosted the meteorological satellite into an orbit ranging from 460.74 to 506.52 miles above the earth. It circles the globe once every 100 minutes. On its first pass, Tiro II transmitted 35 pictures showing cloud cover formation over Newfoundland, the Gulf of St. Lawrence and the St. Lawrence Valley region.

A Midas satellite equipped to detect hostile missile firings was circling the earth every 2 hours and 40 minutes today in a record-breaking orbit that repeatedly takes it over the Soviet Union.

Midas II, the first in the missile-alarm series to be launched from the West Coast, carries infrared equipment which can spot rocket exhaust.

The rocket—a big Atlas booster topped by an Agena second-stage vehicle—blasted off at 8:12 a. m. Wednesday from this Navy missile base adjacent to Vandenberg Air Force Base.

Air Force officials were jubilant, since the high altitude and circular orbit will permit the spy-type vehicle to scan wider areas.

The same officials were firm, however, in refusing to issue progress reports on the satellite. All they would say was that Midas II's first pass over the Soviet Union would take place five hours after launch and that it would be in scanning range of Soviet missile bases in the Ural Mountains six hours later.

Ultimately, a network of sky scouts is expected to double the present 15-minute radar warning time of missile attack.

000 acres of wheat.

In 1960 the average yield was about 27 bushels per acre, Hamrick said. This makes a total yield of a little more than 1,000,000 bushels, he added.

Hamrick said during the past five years wheat sales by Pickaway County farmers have amounted to $1,500,000. This does not include wheat that is fed to livestock, only that which is sold."

ALTHOUGH Monday and Tuesday of this week did not present ideal weather for combining, many area farmers went into the fields and the results compiled at the Pickaway Grain Co. were quite surprising.

Records at the grain company

show approximately 5,000 bushels of wheat sold Monday and 17,000 Tuesday, with an average test weight of 60 pounds or No. 1 wheat.

Many farmers were also surprised to discover that their wheat tested between 14 and 18 per cent moisture.

Local authorities agree that the crop has not been damaged, although by this time last year combining was nearly completed.

If the weatherman has issued a correct forecast, farmers will not be able to get back into the fields before the weekend at least.

The forecast calls for warm and humid weather with widely scattered showers and thundershowers through Friday.

Preacher Doubts Southerners Are 'Model Americans'

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — An Episcopal minister, just returned Wednesday night from Mississippi where he spent 23 days in jail as a "Freedom Rider," told a reporter, in answer to a question, that he did not consider Southerners "model Americans."

The Rev. Grant Muse, white pastor of the Church of the Good Shepherd in Berkeley, told newsmen he and other Freedom Riders were abused and ridiculed by their Mississippi jailers.

A San Francisco reporter asked: "Do you think Southerners are un-American and un-Christian?"

"No, I don't think they are," the Rev. Muse replied.

Then he was asked: "Do you consider the Southerners model Americans?"

"No," he said.

He said in Parchman penitentiary, where he spent half his time after his arrest in Jackson, jailers used a type of handcuff called a wristbreaker and goaded riders prisoners with rods charged with electricity.

Muse said he and another prisoner shared a cell, 6 by 9 feet, with a basin, toilet and two cots.

"For the first two days food was adequate. But after that we existed on corn bread, green beans and chunks of pork fat with two- or three-inch bristles on it."

Riders were fed large doses of a mixture called Black Annie, milk of magnesia in blackstrap molasses, Muse said.

He was one of six San Francisco Bay area riders arrested June 20 after they had entered a Negro waiting room in Jackson.

He was sentenced to four months but was released when the Congress of Racial Equality paid his $500 fine.

When they were transferred from Jackson to Parchman prison, he and the others were loaded into trucks like cattle, Muse said.

As they approached small towns, the drivers would turn on sirens and flashing red lights.

"Then they would stop and let the natives look in at us and jeer," he related.

Hollandaise Sauce Reported Dangerous

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration has warned that Hayden's hollandaise sauce could cause food poisoning.

The FDA Wednesday advised consumers to destroy any of the sauce they might have on hand and said dealers should stop selling the product. Shipments are being seized at several points across the country.

New Spies-in-Skies Working Fine

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
America's latest spies-in-the-skies are working fine. One is designed to spot the launching of missiles anywhere on earth while the other is on the lookout for development of violent storms.

A weather disturbance in the Atlantic could provide a quick test for the new camera-carrying Tiros III hurricane-hunter satellite.

The 285-pound satellite rocketed into orbit Wednesday to photograph and perhaps discover the cause of tropical storms. Within hours, the Miami Weather Bureau reported a disturbance southeast of Puerto Rico, 400-600 miles east of the Lesser Antilles.

Above-normal shower activity, clouds and moderate winds were reported from the area. Weather officials said over-all conditions were not favorable for hurricane development, but Navy hurricane patrol planes were to make a thorough aerial investigation.

A Tiros project officer said Tiros III probably would pass over the disturbance zone today and there was a possibility its two television cameras would obtain pictures of the potential storm.

A Thor-Delta rocket boosted the meteorological satellite into an orbit ranging from 460.74 to 506.52 miles above the earth. It circles the globe once every 100 minutes.

On its first pass, Tiros II

transmitted 35 pictures showing cloud cover formation over Newfoundland, the Gulf of St. Lawrence and the St. Lawrence Valley region.

A Midas satellite equipped to detect hostile missile firings was circling the earth every 2 hours and 40 minutes today in a record-breaking orbit that repeatedly takes it over the Soviet Union.

Midas II, the first in the missile-alarm series to be launched from the West Coast, carries infrared equipment which can spot rocket exhaust.

The rocket—a big Atlas booster topped by an Agena second-stage vehicle—blasted off at 8:12 a.m. Wednesday from this Navy missile base adjacent to Vandenberg Air Force Base.

Air Force officials were jubilant, since the high altitude and circular orbit will permit the spy-type vehicle to scan wider areas.

The same officials were firm, however, in refusing to issue progress reports on the satellite. All they would say was that Midas II's first pass over the Soviet Union would take place five hours after launch and that it would be in scanning range of Soviet missile bases in the Ural Mountains six hours later.

Ultimately, a network of sky scouts is expected to double the present 15-minute radar warning time of missile attack.

Death by Lightning Is Not Unexpected

REDONDO BEACH, Calif. (AP) — "I expect lots of fishermen get killed," Robert M. Lindeburg said to a friend with whom he was surf casting during a thunderstorm.

Minutes later Lindeburg was dead, struck by lightning.

The friend, Lee J. Scott, who related the conversation later, said that he had agreed with Lindeburg and had suggested they go home. But Lindeburg decided to stay.

Scott said Lindeburg was fishing Wednesday with a steel pole and was barefooted. Scott wore rubber hip boots. As Scott started to leave the beach the bolt struck.

"All of a sudden I was knocked down and it felt as if my hair was frying, sort of sizzling," he said. "When I got up I wasn't hurt, just shaken."

wind up. But the House passed a bill last month which calls for the additional congressional district to be composed of Butler, Warren and Clermont counties.

If the Senate passes its version, reconciliation of the two plans could take time.

The Senate passed a House-backed bill giving the civil rights commission specific authority to hear cases in which discrimination in public accommodations is alleged because of color, race, religion or national origin.

A House-approved bill appropriating $974,964 to pay various claims against the state met sudden and surprising defeat in the Senate. Reconsideration of the vote is a possibility.

The Senate did approve the school support bill. It increases the state subsidy to local school districts from about $413 million in the last two years to about $467 million for the next two. The House concurred in Senate amendments, so it goes to the governor.

Among other measures, the Senate completed passage of a bill modernizing state law on commitment, discharge and hospitalization of mental patients. It is a major measure in the governor's legislative program.

Representatives adopted a resolution authorizing Speaker Roger Cloud, R-Logan, to ask for an attorney general's ruling on the governor's right to veto an entire year's appropriation.

Both houses voted to override DiSalle's most recent—and 13th—veto of the session, the county office vacancy act.

Vacancies in top elected county offices presently are filled either by commissioners or a probate court judge-auditor-recorder committee.

The act vetoed by DiSalle gives the county central committee (of the political party to which the last occupant of the office belonged) authority to appoint a successor.

Defenbaugh Estate Listed

An inventory of the estate of William E. Defenbaugh, prominent Pickaway County farmer and partner in the Defenbaugh Funeral Home in Circleville before his death last month, shows a net estate valued at more than one-half million dollars.

Personal goods were evaluated at $27,759.44. Monies totaled $15, and stock and securities holdings amounted to $46,273.93.

Accounts and debts receivable were listed at $32,717.49. Real estate comprised the biggest share of the holdings at $371,990.

Defenbaugh willed the bulk of his estate to his widow, Gwendolyn.

tax levied by council several weeks ago as an emergency measure to raise necessary funds for preliminary work on the lagoon plant.

THE resolution of necessity, placing a special bond issue before the village voters on the November ballot, was left unsigned by Mayor Shepard's death.

It must be filed with Ross County officials by July 20 to appear on the fall ticket. The village's legal officers said Shepard's signature could be affixed to the document by the County Prosecutor, who acts as Kingston Solicitor.

In addition to the sewage controversy, the town is faced with finding a replacement for the mayor's position. Dwight Davis, president of the village council, said he was unable to take the post. "Apparently, nobody wants the job" according to other village officials.

On the sewer problem, council hopes to schedule another public hearing prior to the general election.

Meanwhile, the village's financial picture grew steadily darker. A budget hearing is slated at 7:30 p. m. July 20 in the municipal building.

According to the village clerk's office, increased operating costs and the expense of preliminary exploration into the sewage treatment problem have pushed proposed expenditures beyond anticipated receipts for the next year.

THE emergency sewer tax was one step taken by Village Council to meet the financial crisis. What if any, additional measures will be offered to meet fiscal requirements will be laid before the public next Thursday night.

Libel Suit Defendant Loses Legal Round

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Common Pleas Judge George B. Marshall Wednesday overruled a motion by attorneys for William L. Coleman, state Democratic chairman, in the $620,000 libel suit filed against Coleman by Oakley C. Collins, Lawrence County strip mining operator.

The attorneys had asked that Collins be "more definite and certain" in his allegations that Coleman libeled him. Collins is a former state senator and representative.

The suit, filed April 15, charges that Coleman allowed to be distributed a reprint of a "false and misleading" story to defeat him in his 1960 bid for a seat in Congress.

SHOVEL FORCE—This group of dignitaries was present for yesterday's groundbreaking ceremony dedicating initial construction of the new Hall-Adkins American Legion Post near the southern limits of Circleville. Ready to dig in here are, from the left: Pickaway County Sheriff Walton W. Spangler; Francis Morgan, American Legion 7th District commander; Carl Radcliff Jr., new Hall-Adkins commander; County Common Pleas Judge William Ammer; Robert Liston, local building committee chairman; Pat Hone, State Legion Department Service officer; Roscoe Collins, State Grand Chef de Guerre; and Mrs. Mary Hedges, local Legion Auxiliary representative. (Photo by Beaver Studio)

Initial Work Starts on New Legion Post

Initial construction started yesterday on Circleville's new Hall-Adkins American Legion Post which will be erected on Route 23 near the city's southern boundary.

On hand for a special groundbreaking program were several local officials and State and District American Legion officers.

The new building is slated for completion in October.

Carl Radcliff, Hall-Adkins commander, said the cost is estimated at about $40,000. The general construction contract went to Gerald Leist of Circleville. He started pouring footers yesterday following the ceremony.

The committee directing plans for the new post includes Robert Liston, chairman, Leonard Coffland, George Helwag, James Price, Harold Hill, Carl Bach and Carl Radcliff Sr. All are veteran legionnaires.

Commander Radcliff said the auditorium will be available to organizations desiring meeting places.

Area Communities Lend Aid To County Blood Recruitment

Ashville community residents have responded in excellent fashion to a Red Cross call for blood donations.

Last year Pickaway County Blood Recruitment officials asked Ashville to aid blood collection. A quick response when the Bloodmobile visited the community helped the county meet its goal.

Additional help came two weeks ago when the Williamsport community donated 23 pints of blood during a visit of the mobile unit to that area.

According to local program officials, Pickaway County is now only 40 pints short of its goal to date.

MRS. LOWELL Cooper is heading the Ashville community effort as general chairman. Mrs. Thomas Purcell is chairman of Donor Recruitment, sponsored by the Ashville Methodist Church.

The Donor Canteen, sponsored by the Ashville Women's Club, is headed by Mrs. Curtis Cromley. Mrs. Roger Hedges is chairman of the staff lunch group sponsored by the Ashville Lutheran Church.

Registration and staff aides, sponsored by the Ashville EUB Church, is under the direction of Rev. Morgan. Expenses for staff lunches and canteen will be defrayed by donations from the Ashville Community Club.

Dr. Warren Hoffman and Dr. R. S. Hosler are the physicians in attendance.

The next Bloodmobile visit to Ashville is scheduled from noon to 6 p. m. July 21 at the Lutheran Church. Persons interested in donating are requested to contact Mrs. Purcell or Mrs. Cooper.

Ohio Assembly

wind up. But the House passed a bill last month which calls for the additional congressional district to be composed of Butler, Warren and Clermont counties.

If the Senate passes its version, reconciliation of the two plans could take time.

The Senate passed a House-backed bill giving the civil rights commission specific authority to hear cases in which discrimination in public accommodations is alleged because of color, race, religion or national origin.

A House-approved bill appropriating $974,584 to pay various claims against the state met sudden and surprising defeat in the Senate. Reconsideration of the vote is a possibility.

The Senate did approve the school support bill. It increases the state subsidy to local school districts from about $413 million in the last two years to about $467 million for the next two. The House concurred in Senate amendments, so it goes to the governor.

Among other measures, the Senate completed passage of a bill modernizing state law on commitment, discharge and hospitalization of mental patients. It is a major measure in the governor's legislative program.

Representatives adopted a resolution authorizing Speaker Roger Cloud, R-Logan, to ask for an attorney general's ruling on the governor's right to veto an entire year's appropriation.

Both houses voted to override DiSalle's most recent—and 13th—veto of the session, the county office vacancy act.

Vacancies in top elected county offices presently are filled either by commissioners or a probate court judge-auditor-recorder committee.

The act vetoed by DiSalle gives the county central committee (of the political party to which the last occupant of the office belonged) authority to appoint a successor.

Defenbaugh Estate Listed

An inventory of the estate of William E. Defenbaugh, prominent Pickaway County farmer and partner in the Defenbaugh Funeral Home in Circleville before his death last month, shows a net estate valued at more than one-half million dollars.

Personal goods were evaluated at $92,759.44. Monies totaled $15, and stock and securities holdings amounted to $48,273.98.

Accounts and debts receivable were listed at $32,717.49. Real estate comprised the biggest share of the holdings at $371,990.

Defenbaugh willed the bulk of his estate to his widow, Gwendolyn.

New Holland Council Seat Vacancy Filled

Gene Doyle was appointed this week as a member of the New Holland Village Council, replacing Oather Rinehart who died July 7. Doyle, an employee of the National Cash Register Co. plant in Washington C. H., will fill a term due to expire along with that of the five other members of the board in November.

Doyle and other current council members have indicated they will all seek re-election.

tax levied by council several weeks ago as an emergency measure to raise necessary funds for preliminary work on the lagoon plant.

The resolution of necessity, placing a special bond issue before the village voters on the November ballot, was left unsigned by Mayor Shepard's death.

It must be filed with Ross County officials by July 20 to appear on the fall ticket. The village's legal officers said Shepard's signature could be affixed to the document by the County Prosecutor, who acts as Kingston Solicitor.

In addition to the sewage controversy, the town is faced with finding a replacement for the mayor's position. Dwight Davis, president of the village council said he was unable to take the post. "Apparently, nobody wants the job" according to other village officials.

On the sewer problem, council hopes to schedule another public hearing prior to the general election.

Meanwhile, the village's financial picture grew steadily darker. A budget hearing is slated at 7:30 p. m. July 20 in the municipal building.

According to the village clerk's office, increased operating costs and the expense of preliminary exploration into the sewage treatment problem have pushed proposed expenditures beyond anticipated receipts for the next year.

The emergency sewer tax was one step taken by Village Council to meet the financial crisis. What if any, additional measures will be offered to meet fiscal requirements will be laid before the public next Thursday night.

Libel Suit Defendant Loses Legal Round

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Common Pleas Judge George B. Marshall Wednesday overruled a motion by attorneys for William L. Coleman, state Democratic chairman, in the $500,000 libel suit filed against Coleman by Oakley C. Collins, Lawrence County strip mining operator.

The attorneys had asked that Collins be "more definite and certain" in his allegations that Coleman libeled him. Collins is a former state senator and representative.

The suit, filed April 15, charges that Coleman allowed to be distributed a reprint of a "false and misleading" story to defeat him in his 1960 bid for a seat in Congress.

Initial Work Starts on New Legion Post

Initial construction started yesterday on Circleville's new Hall-Adkins American Legion Post which will be erected on Route 23 near the city's southern boundary.

On hand for a special groundbreaking program were several local officials and State District American Legion officers. The new building is slated for completion in October.

Carl Radcliff, Hall-Adkins commander, said the cost is estimated at about $40,000. The general construction contract went to Gerald Leist of Circleville. He started pouring footers yesterday following the ceremony.

The committee directing plans for the new post includes Robert Liston, chairman, Leonard Coffland, George Helwagen, James Price, Harold Hill, Carl Bach and Carl Radcliff Sr. All are veteran legionnaires.

COMMITTEE members said the modern one - floor plan structure will be of brick and block construction. It will include an auditorium, meeting rooms, lounge and bar, patio and outside recreational facilities.

Commander Radcliff said the auditorium will be available to organizations desiring meeting places.

Firm Sues Competitor, 4 of Own Ex-Officers

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—A Fairfield firm, Die & Automation, Inc., has sued Die Econation, Inc., Dayton, for $500,000 damages and also filed $100,000 suits against four former officers accused of diverting business to Die Econation. The former officers were identified in a suit filed in Butler County Common Pleas Court as ex-president Miles E. Thompson of Fairfield and three former vice-presidents, Harry R. Blackburn of Middletown and Jack Fowler and Tito V. De Muro, both of Fairfield.

Auto Burglarized At Parking Lot

An auto was burglarized yesterday while it was parked at a lot opposite the Lincoln Plastics plant on the corner of E. Corwin and Clinton Sts.

Terry L. Imler, Stoutsville, told Patrolman Jay Curry when he returned to his auto shortly after 11 p. m. the door was unlocked and several items missing.

Imler, an employee of Lincoln Molded Plastics Inc., said articles taken included a flashlight, stamp pad, cigarettes, $6, and a couple of combs.

Dem Workers To Get 'Prize'

Kennedy Autographs Secured by Solon

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's autograph isn't easy to come by, but six Ohio Democrats are going to get one, thanks to the persistence of their Republican congressman.

Kennedy's signature is not only hard to get, but hard to read, commented Rep. Charles A. Mosher of Oberlin, R-Ohio, who finally got the autographs.

"I am sure you will find the President's autograph quite interesting," Moser wrote the six Democrats. "Frankly, it seems rather difficult to read but I assure you it is authentic."

The signatures are on copies of a color portrait of the President and his wife. Mosher paid $1 each for the pictures, which first appeared in a magazine.

Copies of the picture — without the Kennedy autograph — were originally handed out to congressmen by the magazine. Mosher sent his to a Democrat in his district.

Then he conceived the idea of getting copies of the picture signed personally by the President for each of the six Democratic committee members in his 13th Ohio district to "symbolize . . . my obligation" to represent everyone in the district, Democrats and Republicans alike.

Mosher wrote the President that he realized it was presumptuous of him to make the request but that White House staff members assured him Kennedy would be glad to sign the pictures.

Weeks went by until White House Assistant Lawrence P. O'Brien wrote Mosher to send the pictures over and they would be "put on top of the stack" in front of the President.

More weeks passed and Mosher wrote again, then telephoned.

He finally got the pictures back — complete with Kennedy's autograph — and put them in the mail. Lorain; Walter Aufderheide, Fremont; Mrs. Harriette J. Vanca, Elyria; Patrick J. Flaherty, Lorain; and Harlow A. Stapf, Willard.

Divers Believe Schooner Located

ASHTABULA, Ohio (AP)—Four young Scuba divers believe they have discovered the schooner James E. Joy which sank near here during a storm in 1887.

Richard Reublin, Kerry Lehtinen, John Thomas and Ray Macaro discovered a 150 to 200 foot vessel northeast of Ashtabula Harbor entrance in Lake Erie.

"We have not yet proved that it is the Joy," said Reublin, although he added the identification of the schooner was based on a study of marine records.

The Joy, according to records, attempted to put in here during a storm. All 10 aboard were rescued by another boat before the Joy went down.

The divers say the schooner is in 10 feet of water. It is open on one side, but the lower deck is intact, they reported.

Dem Workers To Get 'Prize'

Kennedy Autographs Secured by Solon

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's autograph isn't easy to come by, but six Ohio Democrats are going to get one, thanks to the persistence of their Republican congressman.

Kennedy's signature is not only hard to get, but hard to read, commented Rep. Charles A. Mosher of Oberlin, R-Ohio, who finally got the autographs.

"I am sure you will find the President's autograph quite interesting," Mosher wrote the six Democrats. "Frankly, it seems rather difficult to read but I assure you it is authentic."

The signatures are on copies of a color portrait of the President and his wife. Mosher paid $1 each for the pictures, which first appeared in a magazine.

Copies of the picture — without the Kennedy autograph — were originally handed out to congressmen by the magazine. Mosher sent his to a Democrat in his district.

Then he conceived the idea of getting copies of the picture signed personally by the President for each of the six Democratic committee members in his 13th Ohio district to "symbolize . . . my obligation" to represent everyone in the district, Democrats and Republicans alike.

Mosher wrote the President that he realized it was presumptuous of him to make the request but that White House staff members assured him Kennedy would be glad to sign the pictures.

Weeks went by until White House Assistant Lawrence F. O'Brien wrote Mosher to send the pictures over and they would be "put on top of the stack" in front of the President.

More weeks passed and Mosher wrote again, then telephoned.

He finally got the pictures back — complete with Kennedy's autograph — and put them in the mail. Larain; Walter Aufderheide, Fremont; Mrs. Harriette J. Vanca, Elyria; Patrick J. Flaherty, Lorain; and Harlow A. Stapf, Willard.

Divers Believe Schooner Located

ASHTABULA, Ohio (AP)—Four young Scuba divers believe they have discovered the schooner James E. Joy which sank near here during a storm in 1887.

Richard Reublin, Kerry Lehtinen, John Thomas and Ray Macaro discovered a 150 to 200 foot vessel northeast of Ashtabula Harbor entrance in Lake Erie.

"We have not yet proved that it is the Joy," said Reublin, although he added the identification of the schooner was based on a study of marine records.

The Joy, according to records, attempted to put in here during a storm. All 10 aboard were rescued by another boat before the Joy went down.

The divers say the schooner is in 10 feet of water. It is open on one side, but the lower deck is intact, they reported.

Congress and Driving Penalties

Last year Congress took a step into a new field, not exactly an innovation but in this case one approved of by many of the states. It entered the arena of driving penalties and regulation, innocently and as no more than a clearing house for states which wished to send the names of drivers whose licenses had been suspended in their home state.

Behind the move was the argument that some drivers go to another state for a driver's license and thus bypass the lesson of proper conduct behind the wheel of an automobile. Because it would be impractical for each state to supply lists of its errant motorists to all of the other 49, the idea of a federal office to receive names and impart them to states which might wish to route all license applications through this office was suggested.

Congress approved the proposal and recommended that the Department of Commerce establish a registry to provide the information to the states. But legislative processes do not necessarily correlate approvals with appropriations, and no money was provided for the new office.

The House Appropriations Committee has sent a measure to the floor to correct this oversight, so before long the driver registry may be in operation. If some of the enthusiasm for a central clearing house under the auspices of the federal government has disappeared in the intervening years, it may be due to a discernible difference in the original proposal and that now about to be adopted.

What was needed, proponents of the idea felt, was a central point to which an inquiry on new applicants would reveal persons who were circumventing traffic penalties of their home state. That is, a clearing house to be used by any or none of the states as each saw fit.

Now that the federal government has been given the initiative by the states, there are misgivings that the advantages may be more than offset by potential disadvantages. Is there not a possibility that in time those in charge of the Washington office will look around for other ways to "help" than by answering inquiries?

With a well-filled history of other federal programs of convenience to draw upon there are citizens who wish Washington had not been invited into a field of regulation thus far belonging exclusively to the states.

I'd Hate To Be a Mother

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—I'd hate to be a mother.

When your hard-up neighbor down the street wins $356 on a daily double racetrack bet, he is hard enough to live with.

In one afternoon he has gone from the poor mouth to the rich mouth.

The morning found him reluctant to recognize his own virtue. The evening finds him unable to resist the temptation to denounce his government—dispraise his taxes. The money he has won has made him an authority on everything.

I'd hate to be a mother because she is like the gambler who won a daily double. It changes her whole outlook, too.

She gambled on a small investment and her reward as a winner is a moist bundle of maybe 7 pounds or so of crying human protoplasm. It is wet at both ends and dry probably only in the middle. And it stays that way month after month.

Life is full of laughter, but for some mystic reason no baby is ever born smiling. They all enter this world struggling in anger and fear and hunger. Too many leave the same way.

I'd hate to be a mother. The year before she became a parent she is eager to discuss such intellectual questions as whether the earth would be better if Picaso had got stuck in his blue rather than his pink mood, or if Dr. Albert Schweitzer and Tennessee Williams could shake hands across the distance.

But the day after she becomes a mother she becomes a tigress. A hundred thousand or more infants may be born on a single day, but her world is instantly concentrated to the squirming kingdom of newness.

Day after day she reduces herself (by enlargement) trying to make this dewy glob into a person. She has to curb its normal, strident, gluttonous, wide-mouthed appetite for self-indulgence into discipline and acceptance of the aims and rights of others. She has to escort it sensibly and sensitively from yearning to learning to earning.

It is a hard and always difficult and often lonely and sometimes heart-breaking task.

The reward: If she does a good job—and microbes or war don't ruin her effort—the darn thing goes off on its own, leaving her to start its own family. If she does a bad job, it complains with the breath she gave it to object against the life she conferred.

I'd hate to be a mother. The job has so much responsibility.

Perhaps that is why women make the best mothers. They are much better gamblers than men. Men bet themselves against now, and not always willingly. But most women are eager to stake themselves against eternal gambling on a finer issue.

Motherhood is for the birds—or women with feathers of hope in their soul.

Revolutionary Nuclei

By George Sokolsky

Karl Marx anticipated the permanent war in the very nature of the class struggle, the racial struggle, the death of imperialism. Lenin said:

"The means of combatting war are not a strike against war, but the formation of revolutionary nuclei in the combatant armies, their training for the purpose of bringing about revolution."

Admiral Zacharias in his study of Russian policy and its effect upon the United States, entitled "Behind Closed Doors", and published in 1950, wrote:

"This means that Bolshevik Russia wants war because the revolution is not possible without war and Russia's survival is not possible without world revolution. But this also means that Bolshevik Russia wants war on its own terms and will unleash it only when those terms are secured and the preconditions of the 'just war' are fully assured. On this grand theory of war is based Stalin's own operational master plan. From it developed his world revolutionary theory, the Stalin doctrine."

Zacharias was perhaps our principal intelligence officer and was, quite naturally, not taken too seriously because he knew what he was talking about. The Stalin doctrine was clearly blueprinted in his works and despite Khrushchev's denunciation of Stalin during the 20th Congress, the Stalin doctrine is the guiding principle of Soviet conduct at the present time. According to Stalin, the World War had to have three stages:

1. The socialist war led by Soviet Russia. This effort has been remarkably successful and has now spread to every continent. Its influence upon the intellectual classes in all countries has been enormous, particularly in the weak and backward countries.

2. The imperialist war, led by the Anglo-Americans. Stalin expected that this would involve Soviet Russia in major difficulties. As a matter of fact, both Great Britain and the United States compromised with Stalin, giving up point after point and getting nothing in return.

Besides, the British and Americans became involved in basic differences, such as the recognition of Red China and the Suez Canal fiasco. Also, the British could no longer control their dominions and Commonwealth countries, as for instance, Canada, which imperils the American policy concerning Red China and Cuba. The Anglo-American leadership has not proved to be a stumbling block against Soviet Russia; it has indeed been only moderately successful.

3. The third phase that Stalin foresaw was the colonial wars—the uprising of the colored peoples who would seek political and social equality. Stalin could not have foreseen that the United States would risk impoverishment by the Marshall Plan and other aids in an effort to assist the weak and backward nations to establish themselves as independent states. While the United States has not been altogether successful in this effort, it has nevertheless impeded the ability of Soviet Russia to take advantage of the wasteful strife which inevitably arose as these small countries emerged to equality.

The Stalin doctrine remains the controlling factor in Soviet planning and thinking. The revolution can only succeed by the clash of contending interests. A placid, conforming people do not engage in revolution. A frightened people do not engage in revolution although they may plot in underground.

Khrushchev's policy of co-existence has been rejected by other Communist leaders, particularly by Mao Tse-tung of China and quite rightly so. In a prolonged period of co-existence, the pull will be in the direction of modified capitalism. This trend is already appearing in Soviet Russia.

Capitalism, in any form, tends to lead in the direction of individualism, to the rights of man over the authority of the state. For Red China, for instance, this is a greater peril than war. It is for this reason that Mao Tse-tung and Khrushchev have fallen out. Their quarrel over the method of conducting the Permanent Revolution has confused the Western powers which have permitted themselves of wishful and hopeful thinking that they might still defeat Soviet Russia by stimulating a war between Soviet Russia and Red China.

However, such a war would force, as it already has, Khrushchev to compromise with Mao Tse-tung and both together would join in a war against Western powers. If a shooting war it has to be, it makes more sense for the Communists to fight the West than to fight each other. While Khrushchev wants to achieve the Permanent Revolution without war and Mao wants to achieve it by war, it is nevertheless the Permanent Revolution and not peace that they seek.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

AFTER HIS CONQUEST of Turkey, the legendary Tamerlane, it is told, found out that the local keeper of the exchequer had falsified his books and was getting rich on loot. Tamerlane ordered him to appear with his records, tore them into pieces, and made his terrified subordinate eat them on the spot.

The successor to this unfortunate grafter was a great deal wiser. When Tamerlane demanded that he appear with HIS financial reports, it turned out that they had all been neatly inscribed on a platterful of griddle-cakes!

A salesman stepped gingerly into a publisher's office and asked the receptionist, "Is His Nibs in a good mood this morning?" "I never saw him in a good mood," admitted the receptionist. "I've only been here three years."

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M.D.

Dear Doctor: After three years of doctoring, I still have high blood pressure. When I relax, the reading is normal, but anxious tension sends it way up.

How can I overcome this high blood pressure?

Mr. J. R.

Dear Mr. R.: You have bouncy (labile), not high, blood pressure. It probably skyrockets whenever you see that blood pressure apparatus.

When you learn to roll with the punch, your blood pressure won't bounce around.

Meanwhile, your doctor can suggest medicines to relax both mind and blood vessels.

Dear Doctor: After deep frying, I pour the cooking oil into a jar and refrigerate until next time.

A friend tells me that used fat nurtures cancerous bacteria. Does it?

Mr. C.N.

Dear N.: He's no friend! While certain cancers have been blamed on viruses, nobody has yet pointed a guilty finger at bacteria. And neither viruses nor bacteria can live after being boiled in oil!

Dear Doctor: Do mushrooms have any food or vitamin value? My husband says you have to develop a taste for them.

Mrs. J. S.

Dear Mrs. S.: Mushrooms supply no more vitamins than a glass of water. In fact, mushrooms are all water except for a little fat, a scattering of minerals and some fiber.

Many people enjoy the taste, but in many others, this taste hasn't mushroomed.

Dear Doctor: Where is bee venom sold? I'm allergic to stings, but my doctor doesn't seem to know much about this.

Mrs. E. B.

Dear Mrs. B.: He can find out more on pages 917-21 of the August '59 issue of Pediatric Clinics of N. A.

The allergy department of any university hospital can probably supply the venom. It's also sold by commercial suppliers like the Allerby Labs, Inc., 1111 N. Lee Ave., Oklahoma City, Okla.

Give your doctor a buzz and tell him!

Dear Doctor: Is there a special diet for biliary hepatitis?

Mrs. G. B.

Dear Mrs. B.: You probably mean those first few weeks of hepatitis when the bile backs up into the system.

During hepatitis you can enjoy a regular healthful diet if you feel up to it. But usually appetites fade and stomachs feel queasy.

Small, frequent feedings of liquid or semisolid hot cereal, lean meats, milk, cottage cheese and simple desserts stay down best. Lollipops and hard candy can help your liver, too.

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

Sliced onion and condensed tomato soup are good additions when pork chops are being braised.

They'll Do It Every Time

By Jimmy Hatlo

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—The drug industry will spend more money than ever this year in its search for new cures for human ailments—and this in spite of some ills of its own.

The industry's troubles include: a chorus of complaints from the ailing who contend their prescription drugs cost too much, official inquiries into the industry's practices both of pricing and promotions, and an average drop in profits of 3.6 per cent.

The industry stoutly denies it overcharges, citing as one of its rising costs the expensive research it carries on with the ever-present risk of finding nothing profitable.

It also defends its promotion tactics as necessary in one of the most highly competitive of industries.

And naturally the individual companies hope that the decline in profits will be reversed. In many cases, if they are, it will be because of some new formula found and developed by their expensive research crews.

The Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association reports today that a survey of its member firms shows a record $227 million budgeted for research and development in 1961 of drugs for humans, plus $5.8 million for veterinary drug products.

The previous record of $206.5 million was invested last year in human drug research and $5.4 million for animals. Together this came to 7.7 per cent of total 1960 domestic and foreign sales.

Six firms reported foreign research and development activities, with $2.1 million budgeted for that this year, or about 1 per cent of all their research allocations.

The association notes that the $227-million expenditure this year will be a 276 per cent increase over the $80 million the same companies spent in 1951. In the decade the industry has found and profitably developed many prescription drugs once called miracles an now regarded as commonplace.

This year's expanding research activity is attributed by Dr. Austin Smith, association president, "to the highly competitive search for breakthrough discoveries to combat many common ailments—notably cancer and cardiovascular disease."

Congress and Driving Penalties

Last year Congress took a step into a new field, not exactly an innovation but in this case one approved of by many of the states. It entered the arena of driving penalties and regulation, innocently and as no more than a clearing house for states which wished to send the names of drivers whose licenses had been suspended in their home state.

Behind the move was the argument that some drivers go to another state for a driver's license and thus bypass the lesson of proper conduct behind the wheel of an automobile. Because it would be impractical for each state to supply lists of its errant motorists to all of the other 49, the idea of a federal office to receive names and impart them to states which might wish to route all license applications through this office was suggested.

Congress approved the proposal and recommended that the Department of Commerce establish a registry to provide the information to the states. But legislative processes do not necessarily correlate approvals with appropriations, and no money was provided for the new office.

The House Appropriations Committee has sent a measure to the floor to correct this oversight, so before long the driver registry may be in operation. If some of the enthusiasm for a central clearing house under the auspices of the federal government has disappeared in the intervening years, it may be due to a discernible difference in the original proposal and that now about to be adopted.

What was needed, proponents of the idea felt, was a central point to which an inquiry on new applicants would reveal persons who were circumventing traffic penalties of their home state. That is, a clearing house to be used by any or none of the states as each saw fit.

Now that the federal government has been given the initiative by the states, there are misgivings that the advantages may be more than offset by potential disadvantages. Is there not a possibility that in time those in charge of the Washington office will look around for other ways to "help" than by answering inquiries?

With a well-filled history of other federal programs of convenience to draw upon there are citizens who wish Washington had not been invited into a field of regulation thus far belonging exclusively to the states.

I'd Hate To Be a Mother

NEW YORK (AP)—I'd hate to be a mother.

When your hard-up neighbor down the street wins $356 on a daily double racetrack bet, he is hard enough to live with.

In one afternoon he has gone from the poor mouth to the rich mouth.

The morning found him reluctant to recognize his own virtue. The evening finds him unable to resist the temptation to denounce his government—dispraise his taxes. The money he has won has made him an authority on everything.

I'd hate to be a mother because she is like the gambler who won a daily double. It changes her whole outlook, too.

She gambled on a small investment and her reward as a winner is a moist bundle of maybe 7 pounds or so of crying human protoplasm. It is wet at both ends and dry probably only in the middle. And it stays that way month after month.

Life is full of laughter, but for some mystic reason no baby is ever born smiling. They all enter this world struggling in anger and fear and hunger. Too many leave the same way.

I'd hate to be a mother.

The year before she became a parent she is eager to discuss such intellectual questions as whether the earth would be better if Picaso had got stuck in his blue rather than his pink mood, or if Dr. Albert Schweitzer and Tennessee Williams could shake hands across the distance.

But the day after she becomes a mother she becomes a tigress.

A hundred thousand or more infants may be born on a single day, but her world is instantly concentrated to the squirming kingdom of newness.

Day after day she reduces herself (by enlargement) trying to make this dewy glob into a person. She has to curb its normal, strident, gluttonous, wide-mouthed appetite for self-indulgence into discipline and acceptance of the aims and rights of others. She has to escort it sensibly and sensitively from yearning to learning to earning.

It is a hard and always difficult and often lonely and sometimes heart-breaking task.

The reward: If she does a good job—and microbes or war don't ruin her effort—the darn thing goes off on its own, leaving her to start its own family. If she does a bad job, it complains with the breath she gave it to object against the life she conferred.

I'd hate to be a mother. The job has so much responsibility.

Perhaps that is why women make the best mothers. They are much better gamblers than men.

Men bet themselves against now, and not always willingly. But most women are eager to stake themselves against eternity, gambling on a finer issue.

Motherhood is for the birds—or women with feathers of hope in their soul.

Revolutionary Nuclei

Karl Marx anticipated the permanent war in the very nature of the class struggle, the racial struggle, the death of imperialism. Lenin said:

"The means of combatting war are not a strike against war, but the formation of revolutionary nuclei in the combatant armies, their training for the purpose of bringing about revolution."

Admiral Zacharias in his study of Russian policy and its effect upon the United States, entitled "Behind Closed Doors," and published in 1950, wrote:

"This means that Bolshevik Russia wants war because the revolution is not possible without war and Russia's survival is not possible without world revolution. But this also means that Bolshevik Russia wants war on its own terms and will unleash it only when those terms are secured and the preconditions of the 'just war' are fully assured. On this grand theory of war is based Stalin's own operational master plan. From it developed his world revolutionary theory, the Stalin doctrine."

Zacharias was perhaps our principal intelligence officer and was, quite naturally, not taken too seriously because he knew what he was talking about. The Stalin doctrine was clearly blueprinted in his works and despite Khrushchev's denunciation of Stalin during the 20th Congress, the Stalin doctrine is the guiding principle of Soviet conduct at the present time. According to Stalin, the World War had to have three stages:

1. The socialist war led by Soviet Russia. This effort has been remarkably successful and has now spread to every continent. Its influence upon the intellectual classes in all countries has been enormous, particularly in the weak and backward countries.

2. The Imperialist war, led by the Anglo-Americans. Stalin expected that this would involve Soviet Russia in major difficulties. As a matter of fact, both Great Britain and the United States compromised with Stalin, giving up point after point and getting nothing in return.

Besides, the British and Americans became involved in basic differences, such as the recognition of Red China and the Suez Canal fiasco. Also, the British could no longer control their dominions and Commonwealth countries, as for instance, Canada, which imperils the American policy concerning Red China and Cuba. The Anglo-American leadership has not proved to be a stumbling block against Soviet Russia; it has indeed been only moderately successful.

3. The third phase that Stalin foresaw was the colonial war—the uprising of the colored peoples who would seek political and social equality. Stalin could not have foreseen that the United States would risk impoverishment by the Marshall Plan and other aids in an effort to assist the weak and backward nations to establish themselves as independent states. While the United States has not been altogether successful in this effort, it has nevertheless impeded the ability of Soviet Russia to take advantage of the wasteful strife which inevitably arose as these small countries emerged to equality.

The Stalin doctrine remains the controlling factor in Soviet planning and thinking. The revolution can only succeed by the clash of contending interests. A placid, conforming people do not engage in revolution. A frightened people do not engage in revolution although they may plot in underground.

Khrushchev's policy of co-existence has been rejected by other Communist leaders, particularly by Mao Tze-tung of China and quite rightly so. In a prolonged period of co-existence, the pull will be in the direction of modified capitalism. This trend is already appearing in Soviet Russia.

Capitalism, in any form, tends to lead in the direction of individualism, to the rights of man over the authority of the state. For Red China, for instance, this is a greater peril than war. It is for this reason that Mao Tze-tung and Khrushchev have fallen out. Their quarrel over the method of conducting the Permanent Revolution has confused the Western powers which have permitted themselves of wishful and hopeful thinking that they might still defeat Soviet Russia by stimulating a war between Soviet Russia and Red China.

However, such a war would force, as it already has, Khrushchev to compromise with Mao Tze-tung and both together would join in a war against Western powers. If a shooting war it has to be, it makes more sense for the Communists to fight the West than to fight each other. While Khrushchev wants to achieve the Permanent Revolution without war and Mao wants to achieve it by war, it is nevertheless the Permanent Revolution and not peace that they seek.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

AFTER HIS CONQUEST of Turkey, the legendary Tamerlane, it is told, found out that the local keeper of the exchequer had falsified his books and was getting rich on loot. Tamerlane ordered him to appear with his records, tore them into pieces, and made his terrified subordinate eat them on the spot.

The successor to this unfortunate grafter was a great deal wiser. When Tamerlane demanded that he appear with HIS financial reports, it turned out that they had all been neatly inscribed on a platterful of griddle-cakes!

A salesman stepped gingerly into a publisher's office and asked the receptionist, "Is His Nibs in a good mood this morning?" "I never saw him in a good mood," admitted the receptionist. "I've only been here three years."

Dear Doctor: After three years of doctoring, I still have high blood pressure. When I relax, the reading is normal, but anxious tension sends it way up.

How can I overcome this high blood pressure

Mr. J. R.
Dear Mr. R.: You have bouncy (labile), not high, blood pressure. It probably skyrockets whenever you see that blood pressure apparatus.

When you learn to roll with the punch, your blood pressure won't bounce around.

Meanwhile, your doctor can suggest medicines to relax both mind and blood vessels.

Dear Doctor: After deep frying, I pour the cooking oil into a jar and refrigerate until next time.

A friend tells me that used fat nurtures cancerous bacteria. Is it?

Dear Mr. N.: He's no friend! While certain cancers have been blamed on viruses, nobody has yet pointed a guilty finger at bacteria. And neither viruses nor bacteria can live after being boiled in oil!

Dear Doctor: Do mushrooms have any food or vitamin value? My husband says you have to develop a taste for them.

Mrs. J. S.
Dear Mrs. S.: Mushrooms supply no more vitamins than a glass of water. In fact, mushrooms are all water except for a little fat, a scattering of minerals and some fiber.

Many people enjoy the taste, but in many others, this taste hasn't mushroomed.

Dear Doctor: Where is bee venom sold? I'm allergic to stings, but my doctor doesn't seem to know much about this.

Mrs. E. B.
Dear Mrs. B.: He can find out more on pages 917-21 of the Aug.

The allergy department of any university hospital can probably supply the venom. It's also sold by commercial suppliers like the Allerby Labs, Inc., 1111 N. Lee Ave., Oklahoma City, Okla.

Give your doctor a buzz and tell him!

Dear Doctor: Is there a special diet for biliary hepatitis?

Mrs. G. B.

Dear Mrs. B.: You probably mean those first few weeks of hepatitis when the bile backs up into the system.

During hepatitis you can enjoy a regular healthful diet if you feel up to it. But usually appetites fade and stomachs feel queasy.

Small, frequent feedings of liquid or semisolid hot cereal, lean meats, milk, cottage cheese and simple desserts stay down best. Lollipops and hard candy can help your liver, too.

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

They'll Do It Every Time

By Jimmy Hatlo

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—The drug industry will spend more money than ever this year in its search for new cures for human ailments—and this in spite of some ills of its own.

The industry's troubles include: a chorus of complaints from the ailing who contend their prescription drugs cost too much, official inquiries into the industry's practices both of pricing and promotions, and an average drop in profits of 3.6 per cent.

The industry stoutly denies it overcharges, citing as one of its rising costs the expensive research it carries on with the ever-present risk of finding nothing profitable.

It also defends its promotion tactics as necessary in one of the most highly competitive of industries.

And naturally the individual companies hope that the decline in profits will be reversed. In many cases, if they are, it will be because of some new formula found and developed by their expensive research crews.

The Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association reports today that a survey of its member firms shows a record $227 million budgeted for research and development in 1961 of drugs for humans, plus $5.8 million for veterinary drug products.

The previous record of $206.5 million was invested last year in human drug research and $5.4 million for animals. Together this came to 7.7 per cent of total 1960 domestic and foreign sales.

Six firms reported foreign research and development activities, with $2.1 million budgeted for that this year, or about 1 per cent of all their research allocations.

The association notes that the $227-million expenditure this year will be a 276 per cent increase over the $60 million the same companies spent in 1951. In the decade the industry has found and profitably developed many prescription drugs once called miracles, an now regarded as commonplace.

This year's expanding research activity is attributed by Dr. Austin Smith, association president, "to the highly competitive search for breakthrough discoveries to combat many common ailments—notably cancer and cardiovascular disease."

Miss Miller, Rev. Young Married in Springfield

THE REV. AND MRS. PAUL D. YOUNG

Miss Margaret Miller and the Rev. Paul D. Young were united in marriage at 2:30 p. m. Sunday in St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Springfield.

The Rev. Kay M. Glaesner officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with white pompons, carnations and other white flowers.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. William Henry Miller and the late William Henry Miller, Springfield, O. The Rev. Young is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Young, 430 N. Court St.

Mr. David Ross, vocalist, was accompanied by Mrs. Daniel Greenawalt at the organ.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Richard Miller, approached the altar in a white silk organza over taffeta gown of floor length.

Her very boufant skirt accented the scooped neckline trimmed with organza appliques and cap sleeves.

Puffs of organza on the sides of the skirt formed a V front and back ending in a sweep train.

Her fingertip veil was caught to a crown of lace, sequins and pearls.

She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and green ivy.

Mrs. John Leeth, Fort Wayne, Ind., served as matron-of-honor. She wore a lavender maize organza dress fashioned with a scooped neckline, short cap sleeves and a bell skirt. She also wore a matching hat, white shoes and gloves.

Miss Marilyn Leibius, Toledo, and Miss Donna Overly, Willard, served as bridesmaids. They wore identical dresses as the matron-of-honor. All three carried colonial bouquets of asters and white roses.

Master Gary Robert Young, brother of the groom, served as ring bearer. The Rev. James Rave, Columbus, was best man. Ushers were The Rev. Roger Phillips, Moulton, Mr. Gary Olson, Columbus, and Mr. Luther Ganter, Dayton.

The bride's mother wore a pink pure silk eyelet sheath dress with a silk organza cummerbund and pink accessories. She wore a white carnation corsage.

Mrs. Young was attired in a white nylon with black brocade over taffeta dress with white and black accessories. She also wore a white carnation corsage.

A reception was held following the ceremony in the blue room of the church. White and pink roses decorated the cake, with ivy and roses surrounding it.

Hostesses were Miss Doris Young, Miss Carol Young, Mrs. Marjorie Schager and Mrs. Richard Miller.

For their wedding trip to Cape Cod, Mrs. Young wore a dark California sheath dress with black accessories. They will reside in Ft. Recovery, O.

The new Mrs. Young is a graduate of Ohio State University School of Nursing. She is a member of Kappa Delta Sorority.

Mr. Young was graduated from Circleville High School, Capital University and the Evangelical Lutheran Theological Seminary, Columbus.

Out-of-city guests were from Circleville, Ft. Recovery, Columbus, Cincinnati, Dayton, Toledo, Cleveland, Hamilton, Indiana and Illinois.

Church Group Holds Meeting

The Rebecca Circle of the First EUB Church met in the Service Center Monday, with 17 members and two guests present. The guests were Mrs. O. F. Gibbs and Mrs. Opal Leist.

Two songs were used in opening the meeting, "Brighten the Corner" and "Does Jesus Care?" Mrs. Flossie Groce used Psalm 23 and Psalm 100 for devotions. The group prayed the Lord's Prayer.

The business meeting was directed by Mrs. Helen Wilkin, president. Roll call and secretary's report were by Mrs. Dorothy Styers and the treasurer's report by Miss Gladys Noggle.

It was decided the Circle will contribute toward the cost of a new refrigerator for the service center. Tea towels, which are to be bought by the members, were dedicated by Miss Noggle. Mrs. Mary Mast will receive payment for these. A bakeless bake sale was announced for the August meeting.

The memory verse was recited, prayer was offered by Mrs. Gibbs and the business meeting was closed with song "Blest Be the Tie That Binds".

Miss Noggle presented games. Mrs. Evelyn Blue was the winner. Mrs. Gibbs won the door prize. Birthdays were celebrated by Mrs. Gibbs, Mrs. Wilkin and Miss Clara Lathouse.

Refreshments were served by a committee of Miss Noggle, Mrs. Ella Overly, Mrs. Phoebe Brown, Mrs. Groce and Mrs. Ida Malone.

Garden Club Stages Dinner

A covered dish dinner was enjoyed at noon Monday, when members of the Monrovia Garden Club gathered at the Five Points Methodist Church basement for their regular July meeting.

The president, Mrs. Shirley Anderson, opened the meeting with group singing of the club song, "When You Were a Tulip" followed by scripture reading of the 1st Psalm and the Lord's Prayer.

Roll call was answered by twelve members telling what freedom means to me.

A workshop was held with each member present making arrangements with flowers from their gardens, under the direction of Mrs. Chester Roberts of London as instructor.

The theme was flowers, fruits and vegetables in preparation for the County Fair entries. This proved to be a very interesting and educational and some very nice arrangements were made.

Guests for the meeting were Mrs. Bertha Porter, Williamsport, Mrs. Edward Cox, London, Miss Linda Long, David and Sue Long and Marsha Smith, Groveport.

Mrs. Loring Storer, Mrs. Georgia Dick and Mrs. Ned Long were hostesses for the meeting. The August meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Ray Harden Jr. with Mrs. John O'Day and Miss Freda Claridge assisting.

The Club is planning a picnic dinner and a trip to Mansfield to the Kingwood Center August 6th. All interested members are to meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Smith, on 104 at 9 a. m. and go from there in cars.

Solaqua Garden Club Meet Is Held at Cook Home

The Solaqua Garden Club met in the home of Mrs. Sefted Cook, near Ashville Friday for a regular monthly meeting.

The meeting was brought to order by the reading of the 100th Psalm by Miss Silvia Pettibone. Mrs. Cook's granddaughter, Roll call and minutes by the secretary followed. The treasurer's report was read and accepted.

Mrs. C. W. Hedges, the incoming president, named her committee to serve with her during her tenure of office. They are: program; Mrs. Cecil Ward, chairman; Mrs. Willard Barch, Mrs. Howard Koch, Mrs. Charles Huston, Mrs. Glenn Fausnaugh and Mrs. Russell Perrill.

Ways and means, Mr. Harry Trump, chairman; Mrs. L. C. Schiff, Mrs. Jack Adkins, Mrs. Everett Peters and Mrs. Boyd Hines; membership, Mrs. Frank Grice, Mrs. John Eitel, Mrs. Dorothy Tates, Mrs. Elzie Brooks, Mrs. Walter Cummins, Mrs. Benjamin Vause, Floral Tribute and Mrs. Glenn Rinehart.

Historians Mrs. Jennie Russell and Mrs. John Koch.

Lilies and Hemerocallis were featured and specimens of many different varieties of Hemerocallis were shown by Mrs. John Koch and Mrs. C. W. Hedges. Mrs. Hedges also displayed a huge basket of sweet peas which graced the coffee table in Mrs. Cook's living room.

Mrs. Harry Trump showed a new lily which she had acquired recently in a beautiful deep orange in color.

Mrs. Elzie Brooks presented a very interesting and informative paper on "Lilies". She touched on the background and history of the lily and pointed out that the lily was known and spoken of in Biblical times. She mentioned that not all so-called lilies are true lilies.

She emphasized there are three purposes for which lilies are especially suited. They serve nicely as accent plants in the mixed border, for landscaping and for naturalization. Mrs. Brooks stressed that due to their height, size, and form particular care should be given in the places they are planted in the border.

They are not a flower to be purchased in a moment of enthusiasm and then stuck in any corner available. Like most tall flowers lilies are seen at their best silhouetted against a suitable background such as evergreens, shrubs, a wall or fence.

The bulbs should be planted at least 12 inches deep and as soon after digging as possible, mulched to keep the soil moist and cool and the stalks cut only after the foliage has withered and dried up.

The story of the Lily could go on and on but it can best be summed up in the quotation from Luke 12:27, "Consider the Lilies, how they grow. They toil not, they spin not, and yet I say unto you that Solomon, in all his glory, was not arrayed like one of these."

Refreshments were served during the social hour by Mrs. Cook and the assisting hostesses, Mrs. Walter Cummins and Mrs. Benjamin Vause.

The August meeting will be postponed to August 11th instead of the August 4th date with Mrs. Cecil Ward, Mrs. Ben Walker and Mrs. Charles Huston as hostesses.

Monrovia Garden Club Enjoys Trip to Akron

Friday at 5 a. m. 18 members of the Monrovia Garden Club and guests boarded a Greyhound bus at the Five Points School to start a trip to Akron.

Mrs. Georgia Dick, chairman of the tour committee had arranged for a conducted tour of the Goodyear tire and Rubber Company plant in Akron. This proved to be interesting and educational. At the noon hour a luncheon was enjoyed in the plant cafeteria.

In the afternoon the group visited Stan Hywet Hall which was built by Frank A. Seiberling founder of the Goodyear and Seiberling rubber companies. It is one of the finest examples of English Tudor Revival architecture in the United States, and is a memorial to England's great Elizabethan period.

The main house contains 65 rooms including the stone-floored Great Hall with the minstrel's balcony, the music room with seating capacity of 400.

Stan Hywet, with its 38 acres of rolling lawns, gardens and lagoons, was given on April, 1, 1956 by the Seiberling heirs to the Stan Hywet Foundation, Incorporated, which administers the estate as a cultural and educational center for the Akron area. It is supported by individual contributions, entrance fees and rentals of various rooms.

The gardens, include a rose garden, sunken English walled garden, Japanese garden, which boast rare specimens of flowers, trees and shrubs. The rhododendron walk, birch tree lane, terraces, pools and stuary are all part of the aesthetic surroundings of Stan Hywet. On their return trip they enjoyed a dinner at Hale's Restaurant in Medina.

The local Hairdressers meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday at Tink's Tavern.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

You've Got Troubles!

DEAR ABBY: You've got to help me out of this mess. I am a married man with a family. I was laid off my regular job, so I took a job in another state. I got mixed up with a young girl there. I didn't tell her I was married. I did a foolish thing and gave her an "engagement" ring. I must have been nuts.

She told me last Friday she is in a family way, and we have to get married right away. I can't marry her because I am already married. I know her father, and I'm afraid he will kill me. If I run out on her and am caught, will they put me in jail? My job pays good money, and I don't want to leave town. How do I get out of this mess?

STUPID AND MESSED UP DEAR STUPID: I doubt if you'll be lucky enough to get into a nice, safe jail. Tell your girl friend about your wife. Then tell your wife about your girl friend. Then tell a lawyer about both of them. And pray.

DEAR ABBY: How do you stop a grown man of 24 from licking his plate? Yes, Abby. This husband of mine (and father of two children) just loves to lick his plate. He does it all in fun, and to show me what a good cook I am, but the children are going to start to imitate him. Any suggestions would be appreciated.

DOTTIE DEAR DOTTIE: If your great big overgrown boy doesn't stop licking his plate — give HIM a licking.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter was asked to be a bridesmaid again. This will be the third time this year. Each time she had to buy her own dress and shoes, and get a present for the bride. Each time it has run us about $60.

Our daughter goes to college, and does not earn her own money. We have another child in college, and have to budget ourselves very closely to make ends meet.

Am I wrong in thinking that if the bride's mother wants her to have a big wedding, with bridesmaids, she should pay for the bridesmaids' dresses?

CUTTING CORNERS

DEAR CUTTING: THE most common practice is for the bridesmaids to buy their own gowns. The other way is the exception, and not the rule. The bride's mother has an obligation to keep the dress modestly priced. If she wants super-duper bridesmaids' dresses, she should buy them. Generally, if a bridesmaid can't afford to buy her own dress more than once, she should decline the invitations.

DEAR ABBY: If you are using a low-fat pie dough recipe, blend the fat thoroughly with the flour before adding the liquid needed. If the fat is not well distributed, too much liquid may be used.

Miss Miller, Rev. Young Married in Springfield

THE REV. AND MRS. PAUL D. YOUNG

Miss Margaret Miller and the Rev. Paul D. Young were united in marriage at 2:30 p. m. Sunday in St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Springfield.

The Rev. Kay M. Glaesner officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with white pompons, carnations and other white flowers.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. William Henry Miller and the late William Henry Miller, Springfield, O. The Rev. Young is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Young, 430 N. Court St.

Mr. David Ross, vocalist, was accompanied by Mrs. Daniel Greenawalt at the organ.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Richard Miller, approached the altar in a oyster white silk organza over taffeta gown of floor length.

Her very boufant skirt accented the scooped neckline trimmed with organza appliques and cap sleeves.

Puffs of organza on the sides of the skirt formed a V front and back ending in a sweep train.

Her fingertip veil was caught to a crown of lace, sequins and pearls.

She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and green ivy.

Mrs. John Leeth, Fort Wayne, Ind., served as matron-of-honor. She wore a lavender maize organza dress fashioned with a scooped neckline, short cap sleeves and a bell skirt. She also wore a matching hat, white shoes and gloves.

Miss Marily Leibius, Toledo, and Miss Donna Overly, Willard, served as bridesmaids. They wore identical dresses as the matron-of-honor. All three carried colonial bouquets of asters and white roses.

Master Gary Robert Young, brother of the groom, served as ring bearer. The Rev. James Rave, Columbus, was best man. Ushers were The Rev. Roger Phillips, Moulton, Mr. Gary Olson, Columbus, and Mr. Luther Ganter, Dayton.

The bride's mother wore a pink pure silk eyelet sheath dress with a silk organza cummerbund and

Church Group Holds Meeting

The Rebecca Circle of the First EUB Church met in the Service Center Monday, with 17 members and two guests present. The guests were Mrs. O. F. Gibbs and Mrs. Opal Leist.

Two songs were used in opening the meeting, "Brighten the Corner" and "Does Jesus Care?" Mrs. Flossie Groce used Psalm 23 and Psalm 100 for devotions. The group prayed the Lord's Prayer.

The business meeting was directed by Mrs. Helen Wilkin, president. Roll call and secretary's report were by Mrs. Dorothy Styers and the treasurer's report by Miss Gladys Noggle.

It was decided the Circle will contribute toward the cost of a new refrigerator for the service center. Tea towels, which are to be bought by the members, were dedicated by Miss Noggle. Mrs. Mary Mast will receive payment for these. A bakeless bake sale was announced for the August meeting.

The memory verse was recited, prayer was offered by Mrs. Gibbs and the business meeting was closed with song "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

Miss Noggle presented games. Mrs. Evelyn Blue was the winner. Mrs. Gibbs won the door prize. Birthdays were celebrated by Mrs. Gibbs, Mrs. Wilkin and Miss Clara Lathouse.

Refreshments were served by a committee of Miss Noggle, Mrs. Ella Overly, Mrs. Phoebe Brown, Mrs. Groce and Mrs. Ida Malone.

Garden Club Stages Dinner

A covered dish dinner was enjoyed at noon Monday, when members of the Monrovia Garden Club gathered at the Five Points Methodist Church basement for their regular July meeting.

The president, Mrs. Shirley Anderson, opened the meeting with group singing of the club song, "When You Were a Tulip" followed by scripture reading of the 1st Psalm and the Lord's Prayer.

Roll call was answered by twelve members telling what freedom means to me.

A workshop was held with each member present making arrangements with flowers from their gardens, under the direction of Mrs. Chester Roberts of London as instructor.

The theme was flowers, fruits and vegetables in preparation for the County Fair entries. This proved to be a very interesting and educational and some very nice arrangements were made.

Guests for the meeting were Mrs. Bertha Porter, Williamsport, Mrs. Edward Cox, London, Miss Linda Long, David and Sue Long and Marsha Smith, Groveport.

Mrs. Loring Stoor, Mrs. Georgia Dick and Mrs. Ned Long were hostess for the meeting. The August meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Ray Harden Jr. with Mrs. John O'Day and Miss Freda Claridge assisting.

The Club is planning a picnic dinner and a trip to Mansfield to the Kingwood Center August 6th. All interested members are to meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Smith, on 104 at 9 a. m. and go from there in cars.

Solaqua Garden Club Meet Is Held at Cook Home

The Solaqua Garden Club met in the home of Mrs. Sefted Cook, near Ashville Friday for a regular monthly meeting.

The meeting was brought to order by the reading of the 100th Psalm by Miss Silvia Pettibone. Mrs. Cook's granddaughter. Roll call and minutes by the secretary followed. The treasurer's report was read and accepted.

Mrs. C. W. Hedges, the incoming president, named her committee to serve with her during her tenure of office. They are: program; Mrs. Cecil Ward, chairman, Mrs. Willard Barch, Mrs. Howard Koch, Mrs. Charles Huston, Mrs. Glenn Fausnaugh and Mrs. Russell Perrill;

Ways and means, Mr. Harry Trump, chairman; Mrs. L. C. Schiff, Mrs. Jack Adkins, Mrs. Everett Peters and Mrs. Boyd Hines; membership, Mrs. Frank Grice, Mrs. John Eitel, Mrs. Dorothy Taes, Mrs. Elzie Brooks, Mrs. Walter Cummins, Mrs. Benjamin Vause, Floral Tribute and Mrs. Glenn Rinehart;

Historians Mrs. Jennie Russell and Mrs. John Koch.

Lilies and Hemerocallis were featured and specimens of many different varieties of Hemerocallis were shown by Mrs. John Koch and Mrs. C. W. Hedges. Mrs. Hedges also displayed a huge basket of sweet peas which graced the coffee table in Mrs. Cook's living room.

Mrs. Harry Trump showed a new lily which she had acquired recently in a beautiful deep orange in color.

Mrs. Elzie Brooks presented a very interesting and informative paper on "Lilies". She touched on the background and history of the lily and pointed out that the lily was known and spoken of in Biblical times. She mentioned that not all so-called lilies are true lilies.

She emphasized there are three purposes for which lilies are especially suited. They serve nicely as accent plants in the mixed border, for landscaping and for naturalization. Mrs. Brooks stressed that due to their height, size, and form particular care should be given in the places they are planted in the border.

They are not a flower to be purchased in a moment of enthusiasm and then stuck in any corner available. Like most tall flowers lilies are seen at their best silhouetted against a suitable background such as evergreens, shrubs, a wall or fence.

The bulbs should be planted at least 12 inches deep and as soon after digging as possible, mulched to keep the soil moist and cool and the stalks cut only after the foliage has withered and dried up.

The story of the Lily could go on and on but it can best be summed up in the quotation from Luke 12:27, "Consider the Lilies, how they grow. They toil not, they spin not, and yet I say unto you that Solomon, in all his glory, was not arrayed like one of these."

Refreshments were served during the social hour by Mrs. Cook and the assisting hostesses, Mrs. Walter Cummins and Mrs. Benjamin Vause.

The August meeting will be postponed to August 11th instead of the August 4th date with Mrs. Cecil Ward, Mrs. Ben Walker and Mrs. Charles Huston as hostesses.

Monrovia Garden Club Enjoys Trip to Akron

Friday at 5 a. m. 18 members of the Monrovia Garden Club and guests boarded a Greyhound bus at the Five Points School to start a trip to Akron.

Mrs. Georgia Dick, chairman of the tour committee had arranged for a conducted tour of the Goodyear tire and Rubber Company plant in Akron. This proved to be interesting and educational. At the noon hour a luncheon was enjoyed in the plant cafeteria.

In the afternoon the group visited Stan Hywet Hall which was built by Frank A. Seiberling founder of the Goodyear and Seiberling rubber companies. It is one of the finest examples of English Tudor Revival architecture in the United States, and is a memorial to England's great Elizabethan period.

The main house contains 65 rooms including the stone-floored Great Hall with the minstrels' balcony, the music room with seating capacity of 400.

Stan Hywet, with its 38 acres of rolling lawns, gardens and lagoons, was given on April 1, 1956 by the Seiberling heirs to the Stan Hywet Foundation, Incorporated, which administers the estate as a cultural and educational center for the Akron area. It is supported by individual contributions, entrance fees and rentals of various rooms.

The gardens, include a rose garden, sunken English walled garden, Japanese garden, which boast rare specimens of flowers, trees and shrubs. The rhododendron walk, birch tree lane, terraces, pools and stuary are all part of the aesthetic surroundings of Stan Hywet. On their return trip they enjoyed a dinner at Hale's Restaurant in Medina.

Local Hairdressers To Meet Wednesday

The local Hairdressers meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday at Tink's Tavern.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

You've Got Troubles!

DEAR ABBY: You've got to help me out of this mess. I am a married man with a family. I was laid off my regular job, so I took a job in another state. I got mixed up with a young girl there. I didn't tell her I was married. I did a foolish thing and gave her an "engagement" ring. I must have been nuts.

She told me last Friday she is in a family way, and we have to get married right away. I can't marry her because I am already married. I know her father, and I'm afraid he will kill me. If I run out on her and am caught, will they put me in jail? My job pays good money, and I don't want to leave town. How do I get out of this mess?

STUPID AND MESSED UP
DEAR STUPID: I doubt if you'll be lucky enough to get into a nice, safe jail. Tell your girl friend about your wife. Then tell your wife about your girl friend. Then tell a lawyer about both of them. And pray.

DEAR ABBY: How do you stop a grown man of 24 from licking his plate? Yes, Abby. This husband of mine (and father of two children) just loves to lick his plate. He does it all in fun, and to show me what a good cook I am, but the children are going to start to imitate him. Any suggestions would be appreciated.

DEAR DOTTIE: If your great big overgrown boy doesn't stop licking his plate — give HIM a licking.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter was asked to be a bridesmaid again. This will be the third time this year. Each time she had to buy her own dress and shoes, and get a present for the bride. Each time it has run us about $60.

Our daughter goes to college, and does not earn her own money. We have another child in college, and have to budget ourselves very closely to make ends meet.

Am I wrong in thinking that if the bride's mother wants her to have a big wedding, with bridesmaids, she should pay for the bridesmaids' dresses?

CUTTING CORNERS
DEAR CUTTING: THE most common practice is for the bridesmaids to buy their own gowns. The other way is the exception, and not the rule. The bride's mother has an obligation to keep the dress modestly priced. If she wants super-duper bridesmaids' dresses, she should buy them. Generally, if a bridesmaid can't afford to buy her own dress more than once, she should decline the invitations.

Mrs. Rhymer Honored at Birthday Party

Mrs. Richard Rhymer, Stoupsville, was honored on her birthday Sunday with a carry-in-dinner.

The afternoon was spent visiting and included opening of gifts. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Gearhart, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Streitenberger and sons; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Evans, Mrs. Arno Evans, Mrs. Gladys Mercer, Mrs. J. L. Evans, all of Kingstown.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Evans and children, Mr. and Mrs. Emmitt Miller and daughter, Mr. Harold Karshener, Hallsville; Mr. and Mrs. Johy Tyler and daughters Mr. Keith Evans and Miss Karen Evans, Chillicothe;

Mrs. Maude Karsten, Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Millar, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ballard, the Rev. and Mrs. Earl Bowser and family, Tarleton; Mrs. Lillie Morrison, Uenta and Leewood Rhymer, Deborah Brungs, Richard Rhymer, Jeffery Rhymer and the honored guest.

If you are using a low-fat pie dough recipe, blend the fat thoroughly with the flour before adding the liquid needed. If the fat is not well distributed, too much liquid may be used.

Out of the Rolls Royce Stepped a Bum — Gleason

PARIS (AP)—The door of the $36,000 Rolls Royce limousine opened and out stepped a bum. His tattered trousers were held up with rope. His hair was matted and a three-day stubble was on his face. But he strode into the smart cafe like a jaunty though porcine Maurice Chevalier.

Of course, he was a special kind of bum. This was Jackie Gleason, the elephantine elf of American television and now starring in "Gigot," a film. He plays a mute Montmartre cast-off.

Gleason plopped his bulk down in a chair against the wall and ordered champagne. "That's all—champagne," he said to the puzzled waitress. "I'm a bum. I can't afford to eat."

Goodyear Aide Named Defiance College Trustee

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP) — Albert J. Gracia of Akron, director of research and general products development for the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., has been elected a trustee of Defiance College, President Kevin McCann announced Wednesday.

The new trustee is a former general manager of the Goodyear Atomic Corp. at Portsmouth, operator of the Atomic Energy Commission's gaseous diffusion plant at Waverly.

Gleason sipped his lunch and discussed his film career.

"I just did a picture in New York called 'The Hustler,'" he said. "People keep calling me and saying I'm going to get an award for it. Every time I ask them what the award is for, the line goes dead. I still don't know the answer."

He is making "Gigot" in Paris at considerable sacrifice—abstains from five months. It has been a six-day weekly grind, fighting the worst French spring in years.

The French cooking? "I only eat when I'm hungry," he declared. "As you can see, I am often hungry."

This is not Gleason's first fling at movies. Back in the '40s, he did a stretch at Warner Brothers. He recalled remarking about his performance in "Navy Blues": "I looked like somebody who was watching the picture."

The name of a Paris street may change several times between one end and the other. For example, the Rue St. Honore becomes the Rue de Faubourg St. — Honore, Avenues des Ternes, and Avenue de Roule.

Cape Canaveral missile test center is separated from the Florida mainland by the Banana and Indian rivers.

Out of the Rolls Royce Stepped a Bum — Gleason

PARIS (AP)—The door of the $36,000 Rolls Royce limousine opened and out stepped a bum. His tattered trousers were held up with rope. His hair was matted and a three-day stubble was on his face. But he strode into the smart cafe like a jaunty though porcine Maurice Chevalier.

Of course, he was a special kind of bum. This was Jackie Gleason, the elephantine elf of American television and now starring in "Gigot," a film. He plays a mute Montmartre cast-off.

Gleason plopped his bulk down in a chair against the wall and ordered champagne.

"That's all—champagne," he said to the puzzled waitress. "I'm a bum. I can't afford to eat."

Goodyear Aide Named Defiance College Trustee

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP) — Albert J. Gracia of Akron, director of research and general products development for the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., has been elected a trustee of Defiance College, President Kevin McCann announced Wednesday.

The new trustee is a former general manager of the Goodyear Atomic Corp. at Portsmouth, operator of the Atomic Energy Commission's gaseous diffusion plant at Waverly.

Gleason sipped his lunch and discussed his film career.

"I just did a picture in New York called 'The Hustler,'" he said. "People keep calling me and saying I'm going to get an award for it. Every time I ask them what the award is for, the line goes dead. I still don't know the answer."

He is making "Gigot" in Paris at considerable sacrifice—abstains for five months. It has been a six-day weekly grind, fighting the worst French spring in years.

The French cooking?

"I only eat when I'm hungry," he declared. "As you can see, I am often hungry."

This is not Gleason's first fling at movies. Back in the '40s, he did a stretch at Warner Brothers. He recalled remarking about his performance in "Navy Blues": "I looked like somebody who was watching the picture."

The name of a Paris street may change several times between one end and the other. For example, the Rue St. Honore becomes the Rue de Faubourg St. — Honore, Avenues des Ternes, and Avenue de Roule.

Cape Canaveral missile test center is separated from the Florida mainland by the Banana and Indian rivers.

Veteran Akron Salesgirl Held in Embezzlement

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Miss Vivian L. Talcott, 49, salesgirl at a downtown department store the past 16 years, today was charged with embezzlement and freed on $500 bond.

Police said she admitted in a written statement that she took $7,500 over the past 10 years. Miss Talcott sold appliances and television sets at Polsky's department store and failed to make out sales slips on some transactions, police said. A hearing was set for July 20.

Mrs. Welch Sole Caretaker Of Quite Extensive Garden

Take a grape arbor, a pump, a white garden gate, the vestigial stones of a long ago rock garden — add a berry patch, apple trees, hollyhocks, larkspur, lilies and rue and you have what Mrs. Harry B. Welch, 552 E. Franklin St., calls, "just an old lady's garden."

The 67-year-old Mrs. Welch is sole caretaker of this garden which extends from E. Franklin to E. Main St.

"And why not," Mrs. Welch says. "I enjoy every minute I spend in the garden."

Her dentist hinted recently that the grass mowing of such an extensive lawn might be a mite hard on her. But Mrs. Welch likes mowing grass and intends to do so just as long as she is able.

THE Welch garden is an old fashioned one with a gentle nostalgia about it. Mrs. Welch will point out the stones which were once a part of a rock garden.

Not long ago she found some rusted old spoons which she says the grandchildren had played with when they dug around in the rocks. She has left them there, a mute reminder of the grandchildren now grown up.

If you think the grape arbor is a relic of the past, Mrs. Welch will soon set you straight. She herself built the arbor just a couple of years ago, dug the post holes and everything else.

Mrs. Welch aims to have flowers from crocus time on. Right now, blooming along with the hollyhocks, lilies and spires of pink and purple larkspur there are feverfew, mullein pink, sun-drops and violas. Climbing up a tree are Dorothy Perkins and crimson rambling roses.

One unusual plant is the rue which Mrs. Welch says is mentioned in the Bible. It has beautiful blue-green foliage with clusters of tiny yellow flowers and would be an addition to any garden.

And speaking of the Bible, Mrs. Welch says her church friends sometimes come to her for flowers with which to decorate the church. And nothing pleases her more. She is a long time member of the First Evangelical United Brethren Church.

THIS summer Mrs. Welch has discovered a good many young walnut trees coming up in her flower beds. And she knows just how they got there. She had a sack of walnuts on her back porch and the squirrels made free with them. She witnessed a squirrel several times planting the walnuts.

Mrs. Welch believes in the therapeutic influence of gardening. It just makes her feel better when she's able to be outdoors working.

She believes there would be fewer nervous breakdowns if people got out and worked hard in their gardens.

So it's no wonder that the Welch garden is a pretty sight. It's an old and much loved garden with plenty of memories and plenty of hard work to do. And it's done by a gardener who thinks of work as play.

And that, we firmly believe, is the secret of good gardening.

Upkeep Vital In Planning

By TIM TEEGARDIN

When homeowners first begin to landscape their property their sole idea is beautification.

But they should also keep in mind the maintenance of their planting. What will this particular planting require to keep it at its best?

A solid evergreen planting will come closest to being maintenance free. Even evergreens require a certain amount of attention. They should be clipped once a year, preferably in the fall.

But they need not be sprayed unless a disease problem arises.

DECIDUOUS planting needs closer watching and requires more maintenance than evergreens. Many deciduous shrubs require constant spraying and pruning. This can become expensive.

Many landscape plans are so involved and complicated that they become bothersome. It is a sound idea to keep maintenance in mind when planning a new landscape or making additions to the old.

Garden Gossip

George Borders, Kingston, is known far and wide for his magnolia tree that blooms during June and July. It is the so called Southern Magnolia with the heavy waxy leaves. It is in reality Magnolia Grandiflora.

Borders gave a small magnolia to Dr. Russel Lightner several years ago and it is a thriving specimen.

And there are several in Circleville, that is if they wintered over. The largest specimen we know is on the Anne Leist property on E. Union Street.

Mrs. Ella Hornbeck, Pinckney St., has a garden that is pink with sidalcea right now. Sidalcea looks like miniature hollyhocks and is a soft beautiful pink.

I THINK Mrs. Hornbeck said it was a self seeder. It is listed as a hardy perennial. It is certainly a beautiful addition to the garden.

Yvonne Drake, Route 1, Laurelville, may have a fine flower garden but her mother and father have a vegetable garden that's indeed a beauty to behold.

Hollyhocks, of all things, are growing harder and harder to have. They are subject to rust and to insects. If you have fine hollyhocks congratulate yourself.

The Boyd Ramseys on Eastmore have a fine stand of hollyhocks. The foliage is just perfect and the hollyhocks are taller than usual. Hollyhocks are beautiful enough to have the works when it comes to sprays. Treat 'em like roses.

Mrs. Kenneth Hannan is a believer in swapping garden material. So am I. Never say "I'll give you this." Instead say, "What do you have to swap?"

The Hannans live on N. Pickaway St. Their foundation planting includes red roses and variegated funkia. Mighty striking.

EVERYBODY at the garden club was taking on about the sweetpeas that Mrs. Carl Seyfarth had when she entertained the Pickaway Garden Club Friday. She said they had been raised by her sister-in-law.

People still love sweetpeas although they are not often seen in local gardens.

Mrs. Montford Kirkwood, N. Court St., brought some ferns home from the hills one time for a certain spot in her yard. The next spring she discovered she had all sorts of wild flowers coming up in her fern bed.

Mrs. Kirkwood has about 25 roses, all beautifully cared for and mulched most expertly.

Mrs. James Moffitt, E. Franklin St., says she is delighted with a certain pink daylily that's blooming now. Mrs. Moffitt is what I'd call a triple specialist — iris, day-lilies and roses.

Loring Hill has an artichoke plant with an artichoke on it. Hill lives in Kingston and always has something rare and exotic. He also has a date tree in blossom and a thriving fig planting.

THE artichoke grows on a thistle like plant and has a stem about 25 inches high. It is a handsome plant. Loring is going to harvest the artichoke, dry it, and use it in a winter arrangement.

Corilla Pontius said a tall stately iris in her garden was called Poor Man's Orchid. That's a cuter name than Iris Ochroleuca as it's listed in the Wayside Garden listing.

Incidentally, guess what Wayside Gardens does with its left over catalogues. The universities use up the surplus. But since they are so expensive to print they do not have too much of a surplus.

In a way seed and nursery catalogues are textbooks. Gardeners can learn a lot from them.

When we first moved to the country our neighbor, Bertha Gildersleeve, was looking for a crimson rambling rose. She has since moved to town and the house has burned down, but her crimson rambling rose bloomed to perfection this year.

Florence Fetherolf has a daylily that is almost black. There was a time when Florence thought she'd specialize in daylilies. Then she decided to go in for true lilies. She had some beautiful specimens of estate lilies at the garden club Friday. Estate lilies are just about 24 inches high but the trumpets are big and beautiful.

JUST let me say that something is difficult to grow and I get reports by the dozen of people who grow it without trouble.

This is the case with lupine. Mrs. Roger Jury, N. Court St., has had excellent luck with lupine. She had a pink one and a purple one. The pink one eventually expired but the purple is three - years - old and in great shape. She's now growing lupine from seed.

Mrs. Lloyd Petty has both a pink and a purple lupine - beautiful specimens. Her's get a full morning sun but not the hot afternoon sun. She is growing lupine from seed, too. Mrs. Petty lives at Route 1, Kingston. She also has a planting of red flax which is very eye-catching.

I discourage gardeners in this locality when it comes to growing azaleas, too. No, I am getting reports of successful azaleas.

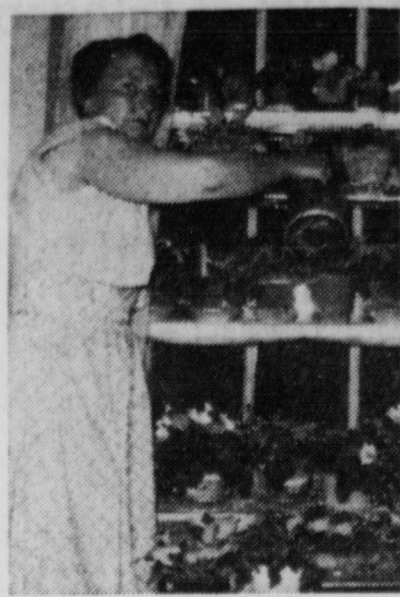

Corilla Pontius has six azaleas. Each time I visit her I take a look at those azaleas and they are bright and green and doing splendidly.

Well, all I can say is that I hope I'm wrong. I truly love both lupine and azaleas and I'd like to see the county full of them.

Ed Ingram, Route 1, Kingston, has perennial scabiosa blooming. He has grown this from seed. It is a lavender - blue shade.

Not all homeowners are horticulturists by a long shot. Tim Teegardin, yard maintenance man in Columbus, said petunias and geraniums are favorites with his clientele. Most of his customers want a well groomed lawn with bright accents. They let Tim do the work.

The Fred Mavises have clematis vines that are blooming now and making quite a show. The Mavises live on Sunshine Drive.

HELEN ROBY AND VIOLETS — Outdoors or indoors, Mrs. Roby works at gardening chores. Here she waters a few of her 94 violet plants, most of which she has propagated from leaves. She cares for her backyard garden, too, which is considerable more work than the violets.

Violets Have Summer Rest

But Helen Roby Works
In Backyard Garden

Mrs. Ralph Roby, 537 E. Main St., has a backyard with all the ingredients that make for quaintness in a garden. She has brick paths, a pump and oval flowerbeds outlined with whitewashed bricks laid on edge.

But it was Mrs. Roby's indoor gardening activities that interested us most. She is an African violet fancier.

Fourteen years ago, a friend, Mrs. Robin Jones, gave Mrs. Roby her first African violet leaf from which she propagated a plant.

Now Mrs. Roby has 94 plants. All but three were raised from leaves given her by other fanciers.

BUT like all African violet fans Mrs. Roby does considerable swapping.

Mrs. Roby has propagated plants in two months time. Mostly, however, it takes a good six months to fully grown plant ready for potting.

In 1959 Mrs. Roby attended the Columbus African violet show and came home with several "gift" leaves. Wanting to do especially well by these leaves, she purchased a giant plastic goblet and inserted the leaves in special soil. It took exactly two years before the leaves rooted and formed plants.

Ordinarily Mrs. Roby would not have been so patient. Since the leaves did not die she waited it out. Now she is glad she did for the plants turned out to be fine, healthy and beautiful violets.

Mrs. Roby has given leaves from a certain violet plant and the plants from these leaves have turned out to be three different colors.

We told Mrs. Roby that we think the people got their leaves mixed.

If we know our botany, the leaves should have come true to the parent plant.

THE Roby plants are in north and east windows. Mrs. Roby has one very big table that has perhaps 20 big potted plants on it.

Mrs. Roby waters her plants from the top, uses commercial soil as her potting medium and spends the rest of her time enjoying the blossoms.

Summer is the rest - time for

Employment Equality Setup Labeled Illegal by Senator

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., said today that powers conferred on the President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity violate the Constitution.

He referred especially to sections of President Kennedy's executive order to impose sanctions on government contractors whose employment practices discriminate against Negroes or other racial groups.

Sparkman's statement was submitted to the committee, headed by Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, in response to its request for comments on its proposed rules and regulations.

Sparkman said the President's order setting up the committee would give it authority to terminate existing contracts and to condition their continuance upon the agreement of contractors to requirements imposed in the future.

Also, he said, contracting agencies would be required to refrain from considering bids of any person when so directed by the President's committee.

"Such action may be taken with no hearing required except when it is proposed to debar a person from further government contracts," Sparkman said. "In no case is the contractor entitled to appeal for a review of a decision denying him rights guaranteed by contract or privileges assured by law."

"Therefore," Sparkman added, "to the extent that any such sanctions are imposed, the action would clearly be a denial of due process of law as guaranteed by the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution."

But at the same time, eight large companies employing 760,000 people signed pledges at the White House today to try to eliminate racial discrimination in employment.

President Kennedy saluted what he termed "an historic step forward in the effort to secure equal employment opportunity for every American of every race, color and belief."

He said it represents an effort to provide a fair chance to many hundreds of thousands of Americans.

"I can imagine nothing that could be more important to our country at this time," Kennedy said.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, as chairman of the President's Committee on Equal Employment, signed the agreements for the government in a ceremony in the conference room just outside Kennedy's office.

The companies and their presidents who signed the agreement were:

Boeing Airplane Co., W. M. Allen; Douglas Aircraft Co., D. W. Douglas Jr.; General Electric Co., Ralph Cordner; Martin Co., W. B. Bergen; North American Aviation, Inc., L. Atwood; Radio Corp., of America, J. L. Burns; United Aircraft Corp., W. P. Gwinn; and Western Electric Co., H. I. Romnes.

The first such agreement was signed May 25 with the Lockheed Corp.

Ordinarily Mrs. Roby would not have been so patient. Since the leaves did not die she waited it out. Now she is glad she did for the plants turned out to be fine, healthy and beautiful violets.

Mrs. Roby has given leaves from a certain violet plant and the plants from these leaves have turned out to be three different colors.

We told Mrs. Roby that we think the people got their leaves mixed. If we know our botany, the leaves should have come true to the parent plant.

THE Roby plants are in north and east windows. Mrs. Roby has one very big table that has perhaps 20 big potted plants on it.

Mrs. Roby waters her plants from the top, uses commercial soil as her potting medium and spends the rest of her time enjoying the blossoms.

Employment Equality Setup Labeled Illegal by Senator

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., said today that powers conferred on the President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity violate the Constitution.

He referred especially to sections of President Kennedy's executive order to impose sanctions on government contractors whose employment practices discriminate against Negroes or other racial groups.

Sparkman's statement was submitted to the committee, headed by Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, in response to its request for comments on its proposed rules and regulations.

Sparkman said the President's order setting up the committee would give it authority to terminate existing contracts and to condition their continuance upon the agreement of contractors to requirements imposed in the future.

Also, he said, contracting agencies would be required to refrain from considering bids of any person when so directed by the President's committee.

"Such action may be taken with no hearing required except when it is proposed to debar a person from further government contracts," Sparkman said. "In no case is the contractor entitled to appeal for a review of a decision denying him rights guaranteed by contract or privileges assured by law."

"Therefore," Sparkman added, "to the extent that any such sanctions are imposed, the action would clearly be a denial of due process of law as guaranteed by the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution."

But at the same time, eight large companies employing 760,000 people signed pledges at the White House today to try to eliminate racial discrimination in employment.

President Kennedy saluted what he termed "an historic step forward in the effort to secure equal employment opportunity for every American of every race, color and belief."

He said it represents an effort to provide a fair chance to many hundreds of thousands of Americans.

"I can imagine nothing that could be more important to our country at this time," Kennedy said.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, as chairman of the President's Committee on Equal Employment, signed the agreements for the government in a ceremony in the conference room just outside Kennedy's office.

The companies and their presidents who signed the agreement were:

Boeing Airplane Co., W. M. Allen; Douglas Aircraft Co., D. W. Douglas Jr.; General Electric Co., Ralph Cordiner; Martin Co., W. B. Bergen; North American Aviation, Inc., L. Atwood; Radio Corp. of America, J. L. Burns; United Aircraft Corp., W. P. Gwinn; and Western Electric Co., H. I. Romnes.

The first such agreement was signed May 25 with the Lockheed Corp.

Backyard Charcoal
Broiler Is Credited With Aiding Boom

WASHINGTON (AP)—The charcoal broiler in your backyard is symbolic of a change in American eating habits—a change that has helped to jump beef and veal from 12th to 5th place among farm products imported by the United States.

These meat products were 12th among imports 11 years ago, measured in terms of value. They have moved up steadily and reached 5th last year, drawing protests from domestic meat producers.

The Agriculture Department, in a report Wednesday, said two major factors brought about this change.

First was the charcoal broiler. When Americans started barbecuing, the department said, consumption of hamburgers, hot dogs and meat used for outdoor cooking skyrocketed. The prices for these meats went up too, encouraging greater imports.

The second factor, the report said, is that producers have been going through a cattle expansion cycle and have not been selling the type of cattle that produces manufacturing beef. Such cattle have been held to increase breeding herds.

Coffee, rubber, wool, and sugar rank ahead of beef and veal in that order among farm imports. Cocoa is sixth.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A farm official says the government's rural areas development program is plainly a matter of life or death for any of the nation's rural communities.

Because of this, Executive Director John M. Lovore of the Agriculture Department's rural areas development board, urged broader public support for the program. He addressed a meeting of the National Association of Television and Radio Farm Directors Tuesday.

Under this program, the government offers local communities, leaders and groups aid in getting new industries and in taking other steps to develop resources and to provide job opportunities for people who otherwise would drift away in search of jobs.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department reported the number of farm workers during the week of June 18-24 totaled 8.3 million, about one per cent more than a year earlier.

The number of hired workers was 4 per cent larger than the June 1960 level and the largest for such workers for the June period since 1955. It said farm wage rates in June were about 2 per cent above a year earlier at a national average of about 82.5 cents an hour compared with 81.2 a year earlier.

The Aeronautical Systems Division, Wright - Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio, has responsibility for development of Dyna-Soar. It is to be a manned glider which orbits a round the earth at 17,500 miles per hour and at an altitude of several hundred thousand feet.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's tougher to figure where President Kennedy is heading—after almost six months in office—than it was with President Eisenhower in the same length of time.

Eisenhower's performance up to mid-July 1953 clearly foretold the course his whole presidency would take:

He would be cautious, conservative. He considered himself not an innovator but a pacifier and would try to avoid both experiments and explosions. And he would let his key men operate strongly. It turned out that way.

His programs were conservative, even when extending and broadening New Deal programs. He tried nothing basically new, even in foreign affairs. His military alliances, for instance, were simply built on President Truman's.

He became so popular as a pacifier of troubled conditions, even the Democrats were afraid to tangle with him and Premier Khrushchev made friendly noises until the American U2 spy plane was shot down over the Soviet Union.

Eisenhower was so cautious he never once said whether he considered the Supreme Court ban on public school segregation good or bad. And he let the strong men in his Cabinet run their shows with a minimum of interference.

Perhaps Kennedy's attitudes, unlike those of the older Eisenhower, are not as fixed at 44 as Eisenhower's were at 62. Or perhaps Kennedy, not too positive on where he's heading, will adapt himself to changing conditions.

So far, like Eisenhower, he's been generally conservative. For example, in his domestic programs, although some think his proposal on medical care for the aged goes too far.

It might be argued Kennedy has to trim his sails because he has to deal with a highly conservative Congress and that once Congress became more liberal he would too.

But Eisenhower, too, had to deal with a conservative Congress, run most of the time by Kennedy's own Democrats. And there's no reason to think, short of national emergency, future Congresses will be less conservative.

In a number of ways—if not always in foreign affairs—Kennedy, like Eisenhower, has been cautious. For instance, like Eisenhower, but unlike Truman, he has carefully tried to avoid angering anyone.

His caution, like Eisenhower's, perhaps shows up best in civil rights.

True, Kennedy by executive action — which means through his administration, without having to go through Congress—has taken some steps on his own to reduce racial discrimination.

But during the presidential campaign he made extensive promises about offering Congress very quickly a slate of civil rights proposals. He not only hasn't done so but has carefully avoided approving even those introduced by some members of Congress.

In foreign affairs his conduct hasn't been clear at all. For the most part he has talked with restraint and even went to Vienna to try to understand Khrushchev better.

But he also approved the patently weak Cuban invasion which not only was a disaster but angered friends and foes around the world. Once he talked tough about protecting Laos from the Communists but never talked tough again while the Communists just went on gobbling up the country.

He sounds stern about Berlin but acts in a way which might give the Soviets the idea he's not quite sure about American military power since he has called for one appraisal after another on that power.

Midsummer meat menus are mixed at supermarkets this week—a few fryers, a little lamb, a bit of beef and some smoked ham.

Fryers are featured in the East and Midwest, with prices as low as 25 cents a pound, while leg of lamb is at bargain levels in New England, New York, the Midwest and Far West. Lamb chops and a 29-cent a pound combination of lamb chops and stew meat also are available in scattered areas.

Beef is about evenly divided between such bargain cuts as chuck roast and steak and the more expensive rib roasts and round steak. Ham sales are mostly in the East.

Sirloin steak is higher in a few places, but the real items to watch out for this week are pork chops and eggs. The former are up 4 to 10 cents a pound.

Eggs, up for the third straight week, are 2 to 4 cents a dozen higher.

More and more fresh fruit and vegetables keep coming to market.

Best buys among vegetables are beets, broccoli, carrots, celery, cucumbers, endive, escarole, onions, radishes, miscellaneous leafy cooking greens, lettuce, parsley, peppers, potatoes and fava beans (king-sized snap beans).

Good buys are the regular size snap beans, cabbage, corn, eggplant, okra, watercress and peas.

Cantaloupes, mangoes and sour cherries are rated outstanding among fruits, while the good buy list includes watermelons, blueberries, honeydews, Persian melons, limes, peaches, strawberries, blackberries, red currants, gooseberries, grapes, plums, nectarines, and bananas.

Key Club Ideals Lauded at Parley

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The president of the Key Club International told 2,200 high school boys Wednesday that Key Club ideals, if put into practice, will keep the nation strong and dynamic.

Midsummer meat menus are mixed at supermarkets this week — a few fryers, a little lamb, a bit of beef and some smoked ham.

Fryers are featured in the East and Midwest, with prices as low as 25 cents a pound, while leg of lamb is at bargain levels in New England, New York, the Midwest and Far West. Lamb chops and a 29-cent a pound combination of lamb chops and stew meat also are available in scattered areas.

Beef is about evenly divided between such bargain cuts as chuck roast and steak and the more expensive rib roasts and round steak. Ham sales are mostly in the East.

Sirloin steak is higher in a few places, but the real items to watch out for this week are pork chops and eggs. The former are up 4 to 10 cents a pound.

Eggs, up for the third straight week, are 2 to 4 cents a dozen higher.

More and more fresh fruit and vegetables keep coming to market.

Best buys among vegetables are beets, broccoli, carrots, celery, cucumbers, endive, escarole, onions, radishes, miscellaneous leafy cooking greens, lettuce, parsley, peppers, potatoes and fava beans (king-sized snap beans).

Good buys are the regular size snap beans, cabbage, corn, eggplant, okra, watercress and peas.

Cantaloupes, mangoes and sour cherries are rated outstanding among fruits, while the good buy list includes watermelons, blueberries, honeydews, Persian melons, limes, peaches, strawberries, blackberries, red currants, gooseberries, grapes, plums, nectarines, and bananas.

Four-Run Rally Produces 6-4 Coke LL Win

5th Frame Control Trouble Fatal to Moorehead, Legion

Singles by George Hill and Rick Congrove, plus three straight walks by American Legion hurler Jim Moorehead supplied the impetus for a four-run Coca-Cola winning rally in the fifth inning of last night's only Youth Baseball contest.

Coke toppled the Legionnaires by a 6-4 count as all other squads were not scheduled.

Danny Dahl led off with a hit for the Legion and scored as Speakman grounded out, short to first. Leadoff batter Tom Wright, Dale Byrd and Congrove slugged consecutive singles to produce Coke's first tally in the bottom of the opening frame.

In the second both teams went scoreless. Byrd retired the AL boys on strikeouts in the top of the third. In the bottom of the inning, Byrd doubled with one away but was picked off at third.

CONGROVE salvaged the sputtering attack with a solid single and scored on Dade bouncer that eluded all Legion defenders for three bases.

In the fourth American Legion leaped back into a slim lead as Moorehead and Carter singled and Turner doubled to produce two markers.

The score held at 3-2 through the fifth, and the Legion outfit increased their margin to 4-2 with a single marker on pitcher Moorehead's two-bagger in the top of the fifth.

The roof collapsed on Moorehead in the last of the fifth, as Hill clouted a leadoff single. Wright fanned but Congrove singled to plate Hill. Dade, Barnes and Sark drew consecutive free passes from the rattled Moorehead to force home Congrove with the tying run.

Dade and Barnes scored before Martindill bounced out to first.

Byrd displayed masterful control, striking out six and walking none in taking the triumph. Moorehead, the loser, walked five batters and whiffed as many.

Joey Jay Heads Pitchers in NL

NEW YORK (AP)—Joey Jay, largely responsible for Cincinnati's rise to the top of the National League, is the circuit's earned run leader at the season's halfway mark.

The 25-year-old right-hander, obtained from Milwaukee last winter, has allowed only 39 earned runs in 132 innings for a 2.66 average, figures compiled by The Associated Press showed today.

Hoyt Wilhelm, Baltimore's relief specialist, striving for his third ERA title, boasts the lowest mark in the American League—.207. The veteran knuckleballer has worked 78 innings while giving up 7 earned runs. The leaders are based on 75 or more innings.

Ohio Women's Tourney Enters Semi-Finals

CINCINNATI (AP)—The 38th Ohio Women's Golf Tournament moved into the semi-final round today with observers hesitating to guess the outcome.

Only one remaining contenders, Kathleen Newton of Euclid, has gone this far before.

She was scheduled to play today against Mrs. Burt Craig of Cincinnati, while the other match pitted Mrs. Marjorie Berry of Dayton, against Judy Ran of Aurora on Camargo Clubs 76-par course.

Mike Souhak plays a short pitch shot with ease afforded by a narrow stance, having heels together and toes turned outward.

COUNTLESS players have not learned how much they are handicapped by faulty foot positions or movements. The very definite influence of foot action on hand action can be demonstrated in the playing of a short approach shot.

First, use the wrong or pigeon-toed stance with your heels separated, your toes turned in and gripping the ground. This creates tension in the feet and ankles, also prevents the proper foot action.

After hitting three or four shots with this stance change the placement of your feet so that your heels are close together, your toes turned outward and upward.

Then, without raising your heels, roll your left foot over toward the inside in the backswing and in the downswing roll your right foot over toward the inside.

This stance and foot rolling, along with a steady position of your head, will greatly increase the freedom and touch in your hand action.

Heavy Rain Hailed As Aid to Palmer

BIRKDALE, England (AP)—Arnold Palmer's prospects of capturing the golf title he covets, the British Open, improved today after hours of heavy rain drenched the parched fairways and greens of the Royal Birkdale links.

"I'm happy to see the course getting a soaking," said the favored pro from Latrobe, Pa. "It needed rain—and I'm sure playing conditions will be the better for it."

Palmer was poised at 70 after the first round of the championship, which carries a first prize of $3,920. He was two strokes behind the three first-day leaders—defending champion Kel Nagle of Australia, Harold Henning of South Africa and Dai Rees of Wales.

Ohio Amateur Field To Be Cut to 16

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's 55th amateur golf championship settled down to man-to-man combat today.

Defending champion Dan Carmichael of Columbus joined 63 hopefuls who qualified the last two days in match play extending through Sunday. A pair of 18-hole rounds today will whittle the field of 16 by nightfall.

Carmichael, 42, World War II Naval ace, met Vic Banish, a public linker from Warren, in today's opening round.

Bob Seyler of Mansfield, who came from nowhere with a round of 70 Wednesday to capture medal honors with a par 144, also had a fee-course representative as his opening opponent—Don Stickney of Columbus, who gained fame three years ago by defeating Jack Nicklaus in this same fixture. A year ago, Seyler defeated Stickney 1 up in the second round.

In Wednesday's qualifier, two-day scores of 158 were good enough to get into the match-play bracket, but 10 players tied at that figure were forced to play off for the final eight berths. Pete Freuh of Lima and Nick Vitt of Toledo failed to make it.

Seyler was the only one of 219 entrants able to match par over the 6,719-yard Inverness course as he tacked a closing 70 to his opening 74. Seyler finished three strokes ahead of Tony Ruddy of Toledo and Chet Sealey of Gallipolis, who wound up with 147s.

While Seyler was winning the medalist honors, another Mansfielder also was making history. Al Hager qualified for match play for the 16th straight time, a record, and was booked against high school champion Bobby Littler of Athens in today's opening set.

Sam Snead says he has scored 14 holes-in-one, getting one at each of the Greenbrier courses in White Sulphur Springs, W. V., where he is the host pro.

Dozen 'Easy' Games Ahead Of Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians, 8½ games off the pace in fourth place, have their best chance in quite a while to gain some ground on the leaders. Their next 12 games—all at home—are against teams against which they have an excellent won-lost percentage.

The Minnesota Twins are in town tonight for a single make-up game. Then the Los Angeles Angels come in for a pair. Minnesota follows for a double header, and the Indians wind up the home stand with four games against the Boston Red Sox. Against the three teams combined, Cleveland has won 16 games while losing only two for a blazing .888 percentage.

The Tribe has beaten Minnesota five times without a loss. They are 5-1 against both the Angels and the Red Sox.

After the home stand, Cleveland plays Minnesota, Kansas City and Los Angeles three games each. So there is room for optimism for Cleveland loyalists.

Mudcat Grant (8-2) will try to get the Indians back on the winning path tonight. His opponent will be Pedro Ramos (5-10).

Minnesota's Twins lost 18 of their first 20 games this spring against Detroit, Cleveland and New York.

U.S. Is Favored In World Trot

SuMacLad Gets Nod For Saturday Event

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — Harness racing's international showpiece—the $50,000 Roosevelt International Trot—will be held Saturday night, and for the first time the United States is favored to win.

Started in 1959 by Roosevelt Raceway to grace its new $20,000 track, the International promptly gained universal acceptance as a premier event in the sulky world as well as a reputation as a glamorous social event. A crowd of 45,723 saw Jamin of France win the first International. Last year a record 54,861—largest harness racing attendance ever—saw Hairos II of the Netherlands win.

Trader Horn and Silver Song, the United States representatives, failed in 1959 and 1960, but this year either Su Mac Lad or Merrie Duke are expected to beat the four foreign horses—Kracovie and La Charmeuse of France, Tornese of Italy and Tie Silk of Canada. Hairos was unable to defend because he went lame and has been retired.

Although he was beaten by Merrie Duke in the American Trotting Championship at Roosevelt a week ago Monday, the 7-year-old Su Mac Lad is expected to be favored in the six-horse field for the mile and one-quarter race.

Merrie Duke is a 4-year-old gelding owned by Byron Kuth of Chesterland, Ohio, and driven by John Patterson. He has won five of six races this year, including the $70,848 American-National Maturity in Chicago and the $50,000 American Trotting Championship at Roosevelt.

Kracovie went a quarter-mile Wednesday in 29 seconds. Her handlers were further pleased later when they drew the No. 2 post position for the mile and one-quarter race.

Merrie Duke, one of the U.S. entries, drew the No. 1 post. Su Mac Lad, the other U. S. trotter and the favorite in this morning line, drew No. 4.

Tornese of Italy will leave from the No. 3 spot, Tie Silk of Canada from No. 5 and La Charmeuse of France from No. 6.

Jets Blank Richmond, 4-0

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Syracuse Chiefs may not be going places in the International League, but that hasn't stopped their first baseman, Frank Leja, from making his mark.

Leja, one of the bonus disappointments, is third in home run totals in the IL today with 16 home runs, but has really gone to town since being traded in May from Richmond, where he had spent most of his professional career supposedly ripening on the Yankee vine.

He hit home run No. 16 Wednesday night in the Chiefs' 5-2 victory over Toronto. Since being obtained from the Virginians, he has hit 15 homers and driven in 50 runs, tossing in a .316 average for good measure.

In other IL action, Charleston snapped Jersey City's three-game winning streak with a 5-0 victory; Columbus blanked Richmond 4-0; and Felix Torres' 18th homer carried Buffalo to a 12-inning 5-4 victory over Rochester.

The Jets' Bob Veale pitched his second two-hitter against the Virginians, as Donn Clendenon doubled home the first run and hit a two-run homer for two more. George Risely and pinch hitter Don Lock hit singles, the only Richmond hits.

Local Kiwanis Prepping for Baseball Night

Circleville patrons of the front-running pennant - bound Columbus Jets are reminded this week that local Kiwanians are mixing a batch of fun for Jet Stadium on July 27.

The Kiwanians are holding their annual fireworks extravaganza that night. The Jets, who have been cooperating with all special nights this year by winning with baseball flair, will meet the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Ronald Easter, chairman of the Circleville Kiwanis Club ticket sales team, reports a brisk sale of advance tickets. If you get tickets now, you can sit with the family of friends, see the game and fireworks, and enjoy a really capacity sell - out at the park, Easter said.

Kiwanis games are free of speech and ceremonies, Easter reported.

PROCEEDS from ticket purchases will be retained by the Circleville Kiwanians. Summer camping trips - two free weeks - for deserving boys is the ultimate benefit.

The community service club already has provided three boys with trips this year.

15 BR Players Selected for All-Star Team

DuPont, leading the pack in the dash for the Babe Ruth Major League championship this year, has placed the largest number of representatives on the circuit's All-Star lineup.

Bruce Helwage, Arnie Gabriel, Skip Lutz, Chet Iery, Tom Copland and George Reeser will carry the chemist's colors into the elite corps of youth baseballers.

Al Gabriel has been selected as manager of the squad, with Emmett Dade serving as coach.

Chamber of Commerce players on the "team of teams" are Jeff Lutz, Chet Hill and Gary Betts. Bob Good, David Bass and Bob Purcell represent General Electric and Howard Dade, Wendell Lovett and Harry Hill round out the select group as selections from the Kiwanis nine.

THE STARS will have little time to whip themselves into shape as a playing unit. They play an exhibition doubleheader Saturday at Ted Lewis Park with the Swan Club of Columbus. First contest is slated to start at 5 p. m.

A bid has also been accepted locally to participate in the New Carlisle Baseball Invitational near Springfield July 19 through 23.

The official Babe Ruth Tournament opens Aug. 3 at Springfield and runs until Aug. 5. Circleville will compete initially for the District No. 2 title. If successful there, they will advance to later divisional playoffs.

The entire tournament eventually culminates in a Babe Ruth "Little World Series" later this year.

Big Leaguers Return to Baseball Wars

Both Heroes, Goats Of All-Star Game Set To Resume Action

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The major league pennant races interrupted by a wild wind in San Francisco, pick up again today with the All-Star game heroes back in the pack in the National League running and the All-Star game goats on the threshold of first place in the American.

The New York Yankees, whose sluggers, Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris, contributed just one single between them in seven trips as the NL beat the AL 5-3 in 10 innings at San Francisco Tuesday in the windswept All-Star game, play at Chicago tonight and could regain the lead from idle, first-place Detroit.

New York slipped one percentage point behind the Tigers Sunday before the majors started the three-day All-Star game break.

In the National, the Cincinnati Reds take a five-game bulge into the opener of a four-game series with the seventh - place Chicago Cubs at Cincinnati. The second-place Los Angeles Dodgers, with pitcher Don Drysdale sidelined by suspension and catcher Norm Sherry sidelined by injury, start a three-game set at home against last-place Philadelphia.

Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh drove in the winning run in the All-Star game and Willie Mays of San Francisco, who batted in the tying run and scored the clincher, go back to belting against each other as the third-place Pirates play the Giants this afternoon at Candlestick Park, San Francisco's Cave of the Winds.

The other NL game sends Milwaukee to St. Louis tonight.

In the American, it's Baltimore at Boston, Minnesota at Cleveland and Kansas City at Washington.

The Yankees, 3-2 over the White Sox this season, send Bill Stafford (7-4) against Chicago and Early Wynn (7-1), the right-handed veteran who will be shooting for his 292nd career victory and sixth in a row. New York figures to have first baseman Bill Skowron back and doesn't expect to be without Mantle, who injured his wrist while batting in the All-Star game.

Skowron injured his back once again in pregame practice on Sunday.

The Cincinnati Reds won their first 12 games against Philadelphia this spring.

Tuesday League Results Posted

Pete Noble outbowed all comers to take the men's series high score honors with 547 in the latest Tuesday Mixed League action at Circle D Lanes.

Judy Dietrich, strengthened by 190 and 192 singles contests, rolled to a 527 first place finish in women's series competition.

Jane Hoover converted the 5-7-9 and 5-6 splits. Verna Reynolds bested the 5-6-10 setup and Glen McFarland took down the 3-10.

All scores in league play are figured without handicaps.

Legion Gains LL Win by Default

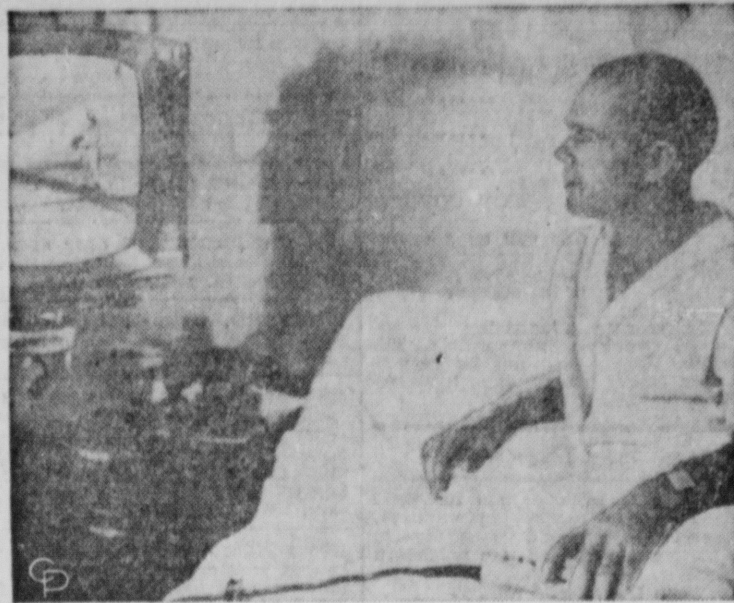

At a meeting this week the Youth Baseball Program board of directors ruled that the American Legion Little League squad was entitled to a 6-0 forfeiture victory.

The Herald, Legion's opponents, failed to take the field in a regularly - scheduled contest last Thursday at Ted Lewis Park.

U.S. Is Favored In World Trot

SuMacLad Gets Nod For Saturday Event

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — Harness racing's international showpiece—the $50,000 Roosevelt International Trot—will be held Saturday night, and for the first time the United States is favored to win.

Started in 1959 by Roosevelt Raceway to grace its new $200,000 track, the International promptly gained universal acceptance as a premier event in the sulky world as well as a reputation as a glamorous social event. A crowd of 45,723 saw Jamin of France win the first International. Last year a record 54,861—largest harness racing attendance ever—saw Hairos II of the Netherlands win.

Trader Horn and Silver Song, the United States representatives, failed in 1959 and 1960, but this year either Su Mac Lad or Merrie Duke are expected to beat the four foreign horses—Kracovie and La Charmeuse of France, Tornese of Italy and Tie Silk of Canada. Hairos was unable to defend because he went lame and has been retired.

Although he was beaten by Merrie Duke in the American Trotting Championship at Roosevelt a week ago Monday, the 7-year-old Su Mac Lad is expected to be favored in the six-horse field for the mile and one-quarter race.

Merrie Duke is a 4-year-old gelding owned by Byron Kuth of Chesterland, Ohio, and driven by John Patterson. He has won five of six races this year, including the $70,848 American-National Maturity in Chicago and the $50,000 American Trotting Championship at Roosevelt.

Kracovie went a quarter-mile Wednesday in 29 seconds. Her handlers were further pleased later when they drew the No. 2 post position for the mile and one-quarter race.

Merrie Duke, one of the U.S. entries, drew the No. 1 post. Su Mac Lad, the other U. S. trotter and the favorite in the morning line, drew No. 4.

Tornese of Italy will leave from the No. 3 spot. Tie Silk of Canada from No. 5 and La Charmeuse of France from No. 6.

Jets Blank Richmond, 4-0

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Syracuse Chiefs may not be going places in the International League, but that hasn't stopped their first baseman, Frank Leja, from making his mark.

Leja, one of the bonus disappointments, is third in home run totals in the IL today with 16 home runs, but has really gone to town since being traded in May from Richmond, where he had spent most of his professional career supposedly ripening on the Yankee vine.

He hit home run No. 16 Wednesday night in the Chiefs' 5-2 victory over Toronto. Since being obtained from the Virginians, he has hit 15 homers and driven in 50 runs, tossing in a .316 average for good measure.

In other IL action, Charleston snapped Jersey City's three-game winning streak with a 5-0 victory; Columbus blanked Richmond 4-0; and Felix Torres' 18th homer carried Buffalo to a 12-inning 5-4 victory over Rochester.

The Jets' Bob Veale pitched his second two-hitter against the Virginians, as Donn Clendenon doubled hom ethe first run and hit a two-run homer for two more. George Risely and pinch hitter Don Lock hit singles, the only Richmond hits.

Brand new year

sports-strictly lower-case

As Seen By BOB NORRIS

FORMER President Truman had a horseshoe pitching court at the White House long before his successor's golf putting green got so much publicity. Fleet Admiral Nimitz was Truman's most frequent playmate in the backyard at 1600 Pennsylvania Ave.

Historic pictures show horseshoes were the favorite amusement of soldiers in the American Revolution. The sport of throwing them at stakes was contrived, in fact, by gladiators of ancient Greece; officers used quoits, a metal doughnut, so ordinary troops resorted to discarded footwear of their stallions.

Today an estimated 8,000,000 enjoy the game.

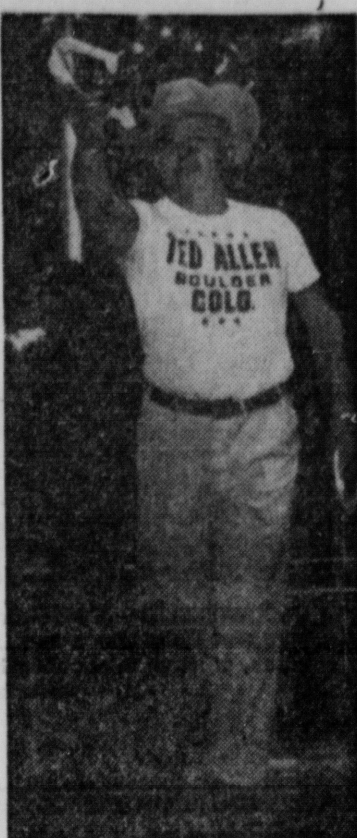

It's inexpensive fun — four horseshoes and two stakes, all of forged steel, at $3.50 up, will last a lifetime. The shoes are relatively heavy, two and a half pounds, seven and a half inches long, seven inches wide in the center, with the opening of two prongs not over three and a half inches.

The fun is in pitching the shoes 40 feet from one stake to the other so accurately—or luckily—that the small opening will take in the stake for a ringer. That counts three points. A shoe landing within six inches of the stake and closer than the opponent's tallies one point.

And in informal play, "leaners" count two points.

Game is 21 or 50 points. Obviously, knocking away the other fellow's shoe from a ringer or leaner is as much competitive thrill as tossing either score yourself.

Contrary to appearances, there is skill required: in the grip, the stance, step and swing, the release and twist of the wrist—all important in making shoes turn one to two times in flight to reach the stake with open end forward.

CHAMPIONS pitch 80 per cent ringers, or better. Ted Allen of Boulder, Colo., has won the national title nine times. Fellow who beat him last year, Don Titcomb, had 84.9 per cent ringers and one game of 43 ringers in 44 throws. Titcomb, 35, is a bowling proprietor from San Jose, Calif.

W. O. Maxwell, 80, of Hicksville, O., won the old-timers' crown with 74.1 per cent ringers. Hal Brown, 13, of Mulberry, Ind., took the boys' title with 55.0 average.

The National Horseshoe Pitchers' Association holds its 1961 championships July 18-26 at Muncie, Ind., on floodlighted courts, with 200 experts expected from 43 states and some Canadian provinces.

Auglaize County Mare Sparkles at Brandywine

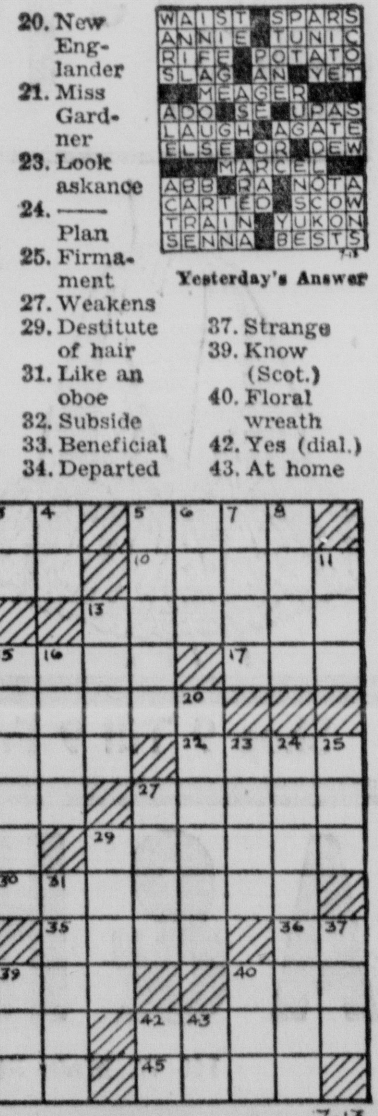

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Golden Blade rushed up in the stretch Wednesday night and beat Petra Hanover by a length in the feature pace at Brandywine Raceway. Gail Reward, who led at the head of the stretch, finished third.

The winner, a chestnut mare owned by Robert Wilcox of Waynesfield, Ohio, stepped the mile in 2:05 4-5 in scoring her first victory of the season in 10 starts. She paid $6.80.

Ken McBride's fifth straight win for the Los Angeles Angels was an easy one. He beat Detroit 10-1.

Ted Kluszewski of the Los Angeles Angels and Gil Hodges of the Los Angeles Dodgers led World Series batters with .391 in 1959. Klu was with the White Sox that fall.

Auglaize County Mare Sparkles at Brandywine

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Golden Blade rushed up in the stretch Wednesday night and beat Petra Hanover by a length in the feature race at Brandywine Raceway. Gail Reward, who led at the head of the stretch, finished third.

The winner, a chestnut mare owned by Robert Wilcox of Waynesfield, Ohio, stepped the mile in 2:05 4-5 in scoring her first victory of the season in 10 starts. She paid $6.80.

400 Marion Workmen Protest Man's Firing

MARION, Ohio (AP) — About 400 employees of the Eaton Manufacturing Co. walked off their jobs Tuesday night, protesting the suspension of one worker.

Officials of Local 1667 of the Boilermakers' Union said the strike is unauthorized and they are urging the men to return to work.

The company says it will not negotiate until the men are back on the job. The men who walked out work in the forging division of the plant.

COAST-TO-COAST BY AIR IN 84 DAYS — Calbraith Perry Rogers is shown at controls of his Wright Brothers plane in 1911 when he took off from a field on Long Island and flew the first coast-to-coast air trip to California, a feat which is being honored by the Smithsonian Institution in Washington. The flight, a matter of less than half a day now by military jet, took 84 days. With stops for extensive repairs, Rogers' plane was hardly the same craft at end.

Dinnerware Makers Plead For Higher American Tariff

WHEELING, W. Va. (AP) — A Newell, W. Va., industrialist predicted here Wednesday that there will be no dinnerware plants in the United States in five years if imports are not restricted.

President W. A. Harris Jr. of

Edwin M. Knowles China Co. was one of seven union and industrial representatives testifying before a House Labor Subcommittee studying effects of imports on domestic china and glass industries.

Earlier, President Robert Hannum of Fostoria Glass Co. at Moundsville, W. Va., said the nation can't long maintain high wage and living standards without protection against "low wages and lower standards of living in competing foreign countries."

And President Nathan H. Burkett of Local 10, American Flint Glass Workers Union, AFL-CIO, which represents Fostoria employees at Moundsville, said 13 glass companies in the area have gone out of business in the past 10 years.

Rep. John H. Dent, D-Pa., the subcommittee chairman, and Rep. Cleveland M. Bailey, D - W.Va., conducted the hearing and returned to Washington, D.C., late in the day.

The American government owes our industry a fair break by restricting the volume of dinnerware imported by establishing quotas," Harris said.

Vice President Enoch R. Rust of the United Glass and Ceramic Workers of North America, AFL-CIO, said automation wasn't to blame for his union membership's present predicament.

"I think that we can keep up with automation, but where products can be produced by labor with wages many times below that of ours, we find it impossible to compete," he asserted.

Dent observed that the United States, in any steps it takes, must fear retaliation from other countries.

"It's like a rabbit threatening to beat up an elephant," he noted, and pointed to indications by Belgium that it will take some retaliatory action if the United States changes its tariff laws.

Fashion Show Is Cloaked In Witchery

NEW YORK (AP) — Anyone who doesn't already know that women are a deceptive lot would get an instant education at the New York couture groups fall style previews this week.

More than 200 female writers here for fashion press week saw the mannequins demonstrate their witchery.

Clothes did the tricks.

For example, on the runway stood Whistlers mother, shoulders bent wearily under the weight of a huge fringed white shawl, a demure white skirt reaching her toes. Then as suddenly as she could whip off the shawl she turned into somebodys sultry granddaughter in a décolleté dinner gown that even a non-Whistler would whistle at.

Time and again models strode the runway in Monte-Sanos "poor plaids not too expensive looking for a trip to the Internal Revenue office. Yet for the walk back they were rich girls, with coats reversed to mink, nutria and gat fur sides, proving you can always hide money in the lining.

Fabrics in the show were foreshadowers too. Coats that looked like politically historical vicuna were not. Materials quited to seem like karakul fur had not a hair. Dresses that appeared to be knit or jersey or cottons were something else again.

There was no fooling anyone about color trends this year, however. Designers Jane Derby, Monte-Sano and Branel showed their partiality to forest greens, deep navies, and black and brown combinations.

And white, once reserved for brides and summertime tans, is a snowy favorite for winter with each designer. But then fashions for fall and winter are as contrary as they are deceptive.

Newark Train-Car Crash Claims Its Third Victim

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Victor Smith, 9, of Newark, died in Children's Hospital Wednesday of head injuries suffered last month when a car driven by her mother stalled on a railroad crossing in Newark and was struck by a freight train.

The girl was one of six persons in the car and the third victim of the June 27th accident. The girl's mother Mrs. Ronald Smith, 27, and a younger brother and sister were hospitalized and released.

surplus food for distribution and clean up fairgrounds this summer. Louis Ringette, chairman of the Josephine County Welfare Commission, spoke of a small, elderly man who runs a chain saw in tree-and-brush clearing work. He said: "You'd think he was getting $5 an hour the way he keeps it going."

Five years ago Cuyahoga County (Cleveland) Ohio, began a program for retraining employable rollers, gave them on-the-job training in county hospitals and other institutions and helped them get work. John J. Schaffer, county welfare director, said more than 1,400 persons have been put on payrolls. He reckoned the transfer cut the relief load by about $1.5 million.

Texas tightened up its aid to dependent children program with an appreciable saving. Assigning specialists to make more thorough investigations brought these results: a drop from 24,974 cases involving 79,557 children and $1,768,372 in June, 1959 to 19,652 cases involving 60,586 children and $1,471,914 in June, 1961.

Louisiana enacted a law last year to cut off aid to dependent children to any mother who had an illegitimate child after she drew a welfare check. Action was made retroactive, and 22,500 of the youngsters were removed from the benefit lists.

But the law also provided that a mother could regain eligibility by proving her home was suitable. One way was by getting married legally. One way or another, all but 4,500 of the children have been restored to the rolls.

Florida also has whittled down its aid to dependent children load. Under a 1959 law assistance can be stopped when a family doesn't have a suitable home. The results: a review of 15,000 cases and many voluntary withdrawals.

K of P Slates Pilgrimage Day At Springfield

Members of Philo Lodge No. 64, local Knights of Pythias, will observe a sixth annual Pilgrimage Day Sunday at Springfield.

The day is set aside by the Grand Lodge to allow all members of the order to visit the home at Springfield. A delegation from the local lodge is expected to make the trip.

K of P members from all sections of the State will have an opportunity to visit the Pythian Home at 901 W. High St. in Springfield. Escorted tours through the building will start at 10 a. m. The home will be open all day.

A highlight of the Pilgrimage Day will be a picnic at the home grounds. Local Pythians and friends are reminded to bring well-filled picnic baskets.

SANDWICHES, coffee and soft drinks will be available on the grounds.

The program also includes entertainment, scheduled to start at 1:30 p. m.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

Heavy cloudiness, light rain and drizzle spread northward over most of Ohio Wednesday afternoon and evening. Rainfall amounts were rather light, averaging less than one-tenth of an inch, with little or no rain reaching the extreme northwestern portions.

Overnight temperatures were quit mild. Some early morning readings were: Columbus, Dayton and Marietta 68, Cleveland and Youngstown 65, Findlay 64 and Toledo 57.

Skies are expected to remain rather cloudy over the state today and Friday, with warm and humid conditions prevailing.

Occasional showers and scattered thundershowers are likely most anywhere in the area, the most favorable time being the afternoon and early evening hours.
